Ervin panel won't get five tapes

WASHINGTON (AP) —Once again, a federal judge has slammed the door of the White House file room in the face of the Senate Watergate committee.

U.S. District Judge Gerhard A. Gesell on Friday dismissed the committee's request that he order the President to comply with a committee subpoena for five Watergate tapes.

Deputy White House Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said the decision "is in accordance with the President's view that the judicial process should be allowed to continue without undue publicity."

Samuel Dash, committee chief counsel, gave no indication whether an appeal would be filed.

However, Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., the committee's vice chairman, said, "I am hard put to disagree with his decision."

"... In view of the upcoming trials and cases that may result from the grand jury investigation, to disclose the contents of the tapes at this time might prejudice some persons' rights to a fair trial," Baker said.

It was the second court rebuff for the committee.

Gesell said the public interest "does not require that the President should be forced to provide evidence ... to a Senate committee in order to furnish fuel for further hearings."

He noted that the five tapes sought by the committee already had been turned over to special Watergate Prosecutor Leon Jaworski for use as grand jury evidence.

For that reason, Gesell said, he felt compelled to give strong consideration to the effect of possible publicity about the contents of the tapes on future Watergate trials.

"To suggest at this juncture the public interest requires pretrial disclosure of these tapes either to the committee or to the public is to imply that the judicial process has not been or will not be effective in this matter," Gesell said.

At the same time, Gesell rejected the President's argument that the courts have no constitutional authority to decide a dispute between the White House and Congress.

He said the committee's role is limited to aiding "Congress' legislative function" and added that it "has ably served that function over the last several months, but surely the time has come to question whether it is in the public interest for the criminal investigative aspects of its work to go forward in the blazing atmosphere of ... publicity directed to issues that are immediately and intimately related to pending criminal proceedings."

The original suit filed by the committee was dismissed last October on jurisdictional grounds and then revived when Congress passed a special bill settling that issue.

Meanwhile, former presidential aide John D. Ehrlichman was questioned by committee investigators in connection with their probe into the administration's 1971 decision to increase milk price supports.

Investigators refused to discuss the details of the two-hour, closed-door session.

Space trio healthy on return to earth

ABOARD USS NEW ORLEANS (AP) —The third and last trio of Skylab astronauts, snapping back quickly from post-landing dizziness, were reported healthy and happy today as this Navy carrier bore them homeward.

Returning to earth's gravity on Friday after a record 84 days in space, Gerald P. Carr, Edward G. Gibson and William R. Pogue said they felt lead-footed but generally quite good.

"I never knew I weighed this much," Gibson said after walking out of the Apollo command ship that brought the men back from space.

The New Orleans, which pulled the spacecraft from the ocean some 177 miles southwest of San Diego, Calif., was due in San Diego about noon EDT today.

The astronauts will remain aboard the carrier in San Diego harbor until 4:50 p.m. EDT Sunday. Then, after a brief dockside ceremony, they will fly to Houston, Tex., for a reunion with their families.

The space agency said the overnight stay aboard the New Orleans would give doctors the opportunity for more medical examinations before the astronauts' bodies further adapt to earth's gravity.

Space agency flight surgeon Dr. Jerry Hordinsky said after preliminary medical exams Friday that the Skylab 3 crew was at least as healthy, if not healthier, than the men of Skylab 2 after their 59-day mission.

National Aeronautics and Space Administration doctors got a start on finding out the crew's exact health status with more than six hours of tests on board ship Friday. The astronauts faced about double that amount of time in tests today and more tests Sunday.

Dr. Royce Hawkins, a NASA health official, said at the Johnson Space Center in Houston that he was elated and delighted with the first reports on the crew's condition. Unless extensive tests show deleterious changes in their bodies, it appears men could fly in space for a year or two without much trouble, he said.

Carr, Gibson and Pogue spent more time exercising than the two previous crews, and this was widely held to be the chief reason for their seemingly good health on returning.

"Boy, if we hadn't exercised, we would have been like jellyfish when we came back," Hordinsky said Pogue told him.

President Nixon, in a statement issued after the Skylab 3 crew's return, called the Skylab program "one of the most scientifically productive endeavors in

AEC examines nuclear plant

CHICAGO (AP) —The Atomic Energy Commission says it is investigating the Palisades nuclear power plant near South Haven, Mich., and a consumer group is demanding that the company that operates it be prosecuted.

The AEC said in a statement Friday it was investigating charges that the plant in southwestern Lower Michigan violated regulations for reporting the discharge of radioactive material.

The investigation, the AEC said, does not pertain to the actual material discharge, but allegations that the plant failed to report such discharges, as is required by law.

The AEC said internal correspondence from Consumers Power Co. of Jackson, Mich., the company that owns the plant, indicated that the company "may have withheld for several months information which it was required to report to the AEC."

The AEC said the documents were given to them by Patrick Clawson, a reporter for radio station WHNE in Detroit.

The documents would be checked for authenticity during the investigation, an AEC spokesman said, adding that it was highly doubtful they were forged.

Appearing at a news conference with consumer advocates, Clawson said he got the documents from employes of the power company.

The consumer advocates distributed to newsmen what they said were copies of the internal documents.

David Comey, a spokesman for Business and Professional People for the Public Interest, charged that the Palisades plant violated its license by improperly releasing radioactive gases and liquids and by not reporting it to the AEC.

Comey said the materials discharged at Palisades were not harmful but that unless such practices were ended, and those involved prosecuted, other utilities would be encouraged to violate AEC standards.

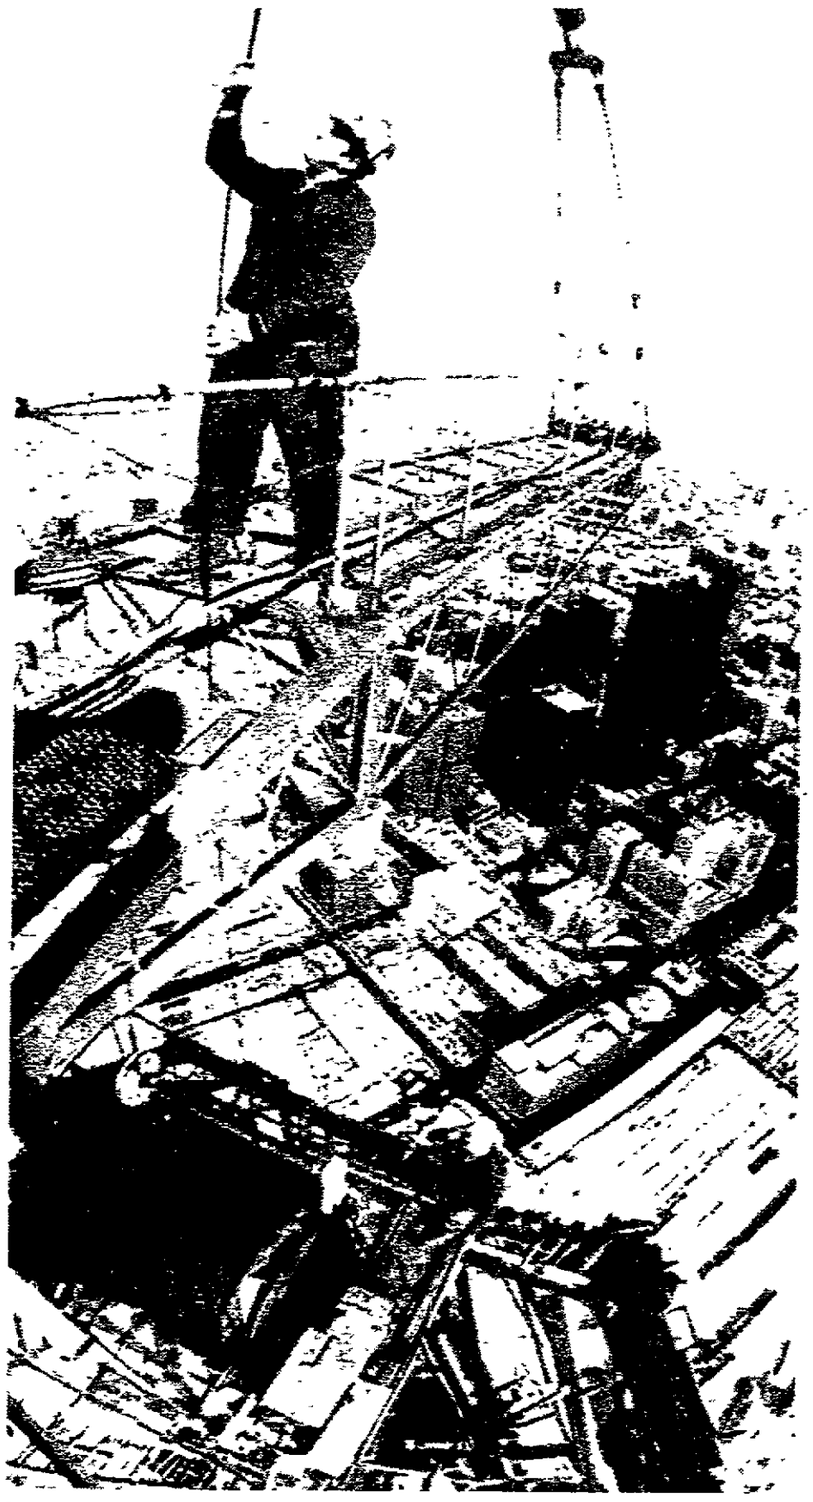

"Then there will be a truely dangerous situation," Comey said. "There will be a major accident in which thousands will lose their lives."

Comey's Chicago-based group is a consumer-orientated law firm.

The AEC can only revoke an operating license but Comey said he has urged the U.S. Attorney General's office to criminally prosecute the matter.

Basing his charges on what he said were the internal documents, Comey said the Palisades plant was required to hold radioactive gases seven days before releasing them, but instead had discharged them immediately and consistantly for 11 months until the AEC ended it in November 1972.

The papers distributed by Comey said Consumers Power knew of the improper discharges and "is in deep trouble" with the AEC because of them.

Some breaks in resistance to truck settlement

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Small breaks began appearing today in the 10-day-old strike by independent truck drivers.

There still was strong resistance from many of the drivers whose refusal to move their cargoes of food, petroleum and industrial parts brought widespread layoffs and spot shortages of food and gasoline.

It appeared certain that most of the tens of thousands of parked rigs had not yet begun to move.

But two automakers recalled furloughed workers after saying truck shipment of needed material had resumed.

And several among the literally dozens of independent trucker organizations which have sprung up overnight began Friday night to urge their loosely organized memberships back on the road. Truck traffic was reported up slightly; a convoy of 20 produce-filled trucks headed out of Florida for the produce-short Northeast.

National officers of the Fraternal Steel Haulers Association, who claim to represent several thousand drivers, voted unanimously to recommend that their members accept government promises of all the fuel they need and immediate increases in freight rates.

Similar action was reported in Detroit Lakes, Minn., by the 800-member Midwest Independent Truckers Association. Trucker spokesman Leonard Fleet, on a swing through Ohio to promote and explain the settlement he helped negotiate, said early today he had been assured by some independent trucker leaders in Michigan, Ohio and Pennsylvania that they were urging their men back on the road.

To make up for recent and future fuel price hikes, truckers will get an immediate increase of six per cent in the amount they charge for their cargo. That increase, which one driver said would mean about $30 more on a Philadelphia to Chicago run, eventually will show up in the prices consumers pay for truck-transported goods.

These developments, and mediation efforts by persons who were urged by President Nixon to "get the word out in the trucker's language," caused some officials to say they looked for over-the-road movement of freight to be back to normal by Monday.

Government officials said truck traffic was up 20 per cent. The exact increase was not possible to determine, and a heavy snowfall on the Atlantic Seaboard made it tougher to determine whether traffic was up significantly.

But at least 100,000 persons remained unemployed.

Equal rights measure ratified by Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) —Ohio has become the 33rd state to ratify the Equal Rights Amendment to the U.S. Constitution. Approval is needed from only five more states for the measure to become law.

The proposal passed the Ohio Senate 20-12 Thursday. The House approved it last March by a 56-40 margin.

The ERA provides that "equality of rights under the law shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of sex."

Taxes apparently owed by Nixon, senator says

By JEFFREY MILLS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) —The chairman of the congressional committee looking into President Nixon's tax returns says a preliminary investigation indicates the President owes additional taxes.

"We are going to say exactly how much the President owes," Sen. Russell B. Long, chairman of the Senate-House Internal Revenue Taxation Committee, said Friday.

Long added, "We don't have any information to indicate that the President was not in good faith" when he filed his federal income tax returns for 1969-72.

The White House had no comment on the Louisiana Democrat's statements.

The committee is investigating the validity of Nixon's $576,000 deduction for a gift of his papers to the National Archives and a possible capital gains liability resulting from sale of some San Clemente, Calif. real estate.

The committee staff has said it may be ready to report to the committee by the end of this month.

The Internal Revenue Service also is re-auditing the 1969-72 returns.

In a television interview recorded for showing by Louisiana stations, the senator was asked about reports that Nixon might owe more than $300,000. Long replied:

"You said that ... but I heard you and I can't contradict it."

"Everything I know would indicate that he (Nixon) did what his lawyer and his accountant told him to do," Long said.

"He claimed deductions that they thought, or, at least, that they advised him, they felt he was entitled to take... If he had put as much time on his tax returns as one of our more conscientious senators does, just working diligently, he wouldn't have had time to be President," Long added.

The question was raised in the interview of whether there might be a taxpayers' revolt if it was revealed that the President had underpaid his taxes substantially.

"When the taxpayers see how this thing works out, there won't be any taxpayers' revolt," Long said.

"I just urge you to just wait until we can report because we are going to say exactly how much the President owes."

British miners ready to strike

LONDON (AP) —Britain's 280,000 coal miners go on strike at midnight tonight in a move expected to produce the nation's worst economic crisis since the dark days of World War II.

The executive board of the miners' union refused Friday to postpone the strike, despite an appeal by Prime Minister Edward Heath to wait until after the general election Feb. 28. The board's vote was 20-6.

Some of those who voted against postponement claimed their men were ready to stage wildcat strikes if the executive committee went against a walkout. Miners at several pits have jumped the gun by failing to report for work, and coal production this week was only 30 per cent of normal.

The miners' strike threat and a three-month work slowdown that produced a national power shortage were key causes of Heath's decision last Thursday to call the election. Coal provides 70 per cent of the country's electricity, and the power shortage already has forced the government to put nonessential industries on a three-day work week.

The all-out strike is expected to bring more severe power cutbacks. The government has warned that blackouts of up to nine hours a day may be needed. Industry sources expect the short weeks to produce widespread business bankruptcies and a 16 per cent unemployment level by election day.

The giant, state-owned British Steel Corp. said its output, already down 25 per cent, will run at only 40 per cent capacity within three weeks because coal fuels most of the furnaces.

The strikers have the blessing of the 10-million-member Trades Union Congress, the parent body of all British labor unions. The transport and general workers' union, with more than a million members, and the train engineers have agreed not to transport coal during the strike.

The miners' leaders have issued strict instructions on picketing, in an apparent attempt not to alienate public opinion with a repetition of the violent scenes of their 1972 strike. Then, thousand-man armies of pickets fought with police in illegal efforts to keep coal trucks from reaching power stations. One picket was killed.

On the surface, the nation does not look like a country under siege. Movie theaters, restaurants, night clubs, stores and bars are still open, and there's no apparent shortage of food or other essentials.

But more than 1.5 million of Britain's 25 million workers are unemployed or underemployed because of the short weeks. Many streets are blacked out to cut down use of electricity. Television networks shut down at 10:30 at night.

There is panic buying of some commodities, although store managers blame the problem on media scare stories more than on any real shortages.

Nowakowski bribery trial starts

MILWAUKEE (AP) —A lawyer testified Friday he offered to share a commission with the chairman of Milwaukee County's Board of Supervisors, but denied offering him a bribe.

The testimony opened the Circuit Court bribery trial of Richard C. Nowakowski, who is accused of accepting $275 from lobbyist Roger Radue.

The prosecution contends the former Democratic state legislator, also accused of violating the state Corrupt Practices Act, accepted a bribe concerning a 1967 contract between the county and a firm which sells highway pavement marking material.

Nowakowski has resisted efforts to have him resign. His supporters say he is being politically victimized by the office of Republican Atty. Gen. Robert W. Warren.

Radue, a Madison lobbyist who has represented the marking firm, testified he suggested to Nowakowski that the county consider his client's product.

"Certainly not," Radue replied when asked by Nowakowski's lawyer if he had "reached any understanding with Nowakowski to pay him or get his vote on Milwaukee County contracts."

Radue said Nowakowski had once suggested he could use some extra cash, and that he had told the supervisor his client might help because Nowakowski "had done a good job in getting contacts" with the city.

He testified Nowakowski helped him with some city contracts after they agreed to share Radue's commission.

But Radue said he never paid Nowakowski because he had never received payment from his client.

Charges against Nowakowski stem from a grand jury investigation of lobbying techniques used by salesmen doing business with the county.

Four counts against Nowakowski of soliciting other persons to commit perjury have been dismissed.

Several other persons were cited by the grand jury.

One of them, Phillip R. Birdsall, pleaded guilty Friday to perjury. He was fined $1,500 and was placed on two years' probation.

Birdsall, a Madison tire store manager, testified before the grand jury a year ago.

He was accused of having understated the number of checks he wrote for a woman subsequently indicted on a prostitution charge.

One survivor in crash on Air Force training flight

BEALE AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) —A B52 jet bomber with eight crewmen aboard crashed and burned during take off for a routine training mission, the Air Force said. There was only one known survivor.

One man was taken to the base hospital and one body was recovered, said Maj. Tom Maypole, a spokesman at the base near Marysville.

"No other survivors have been found at this time, so one might assume there are none," Maypole said today. "However, we really can't speculate, because sometimes survivors manage to crawl away from a crash and aren't found until much later."

Capt. Lee F. Knudsen, 27, an electronics warfare instructor who lived on the base, was listed by the Air Force as being killed in the crash late Friday.

First pilot Capt. Paul J. Baldy, 29, of Yuba City, Calif., was treated at the hospital for severe burns, the Air Force said. A team of burn specialists was reported en route from Brooks Medical Center in San Antonio, Tex.

The Stratofortess, attached to the 456th Bombardment Wing, crashed to the runway at the midpoint in its takeoff, an Air Force statement said. It gave no cause for the crash, which was under investigation by a board of officers.

A witness driving onto the base at the time of the crash said she "saw the explosion on the flight line. It was like a great big mushroom."

Police in nearby cities said the explosion rattled windows within a radius of several miles.

The Air Force said no bombs were aboard the aircraft.

UW faculty firings cripple efficiency, regents are told

Post-Crescent Madison bureau

MADISON —A group of faculty and student representatives from the University of Wisconsin-Oshkosh appeared before the University Board of Regents Friday to urge that UW faculty members fired for "alleged financial exigency" be reinstated.

The group, representing the approximately 100 Oshkosh faculty members who are affiliated with the Wisconsin Education Association Council (WEAC), charged that the firings have had a "crippling effect" on the quality of education at Oshkosh.

Franklin Utech, a member of the Oshkosh faculty, read a prepared statement criticizing the Oshkosh administration for the criteria used in dismissing faculty members. He said afterwards that his attack was aimed at the University System as a whole and not just at Oshkosh.

Representatives of the Oshkosh student government organization also appeared before the Regents to announce that the group unanimously approved a resolution calling for the reinstatement of the fired faculty members.

The Regents made no comments on the presentation and forwarded the matter to its Education Committee. Oshkosh Chancellor Robert Birnbaum, who just arrived from New Jersey a week ago, said he would not make a comment on the charges until he was more thoroughly briefed.

The charges leveled by Utech and UW-Eau Claire representative Cal Eland claimed that the firing of the faculty members have had a legal, educational, financial and an emotional effect upon the Oshkosh campus. WEAC officials, who are attempting to challenge The Association of University of Wisconsin Faculty (TAUWF) for faculty membership, accompanied Utech to the meeting.

Oshkosh Vice-Chancellor Raymond Ramsden was charged with making faculty cuts without consulting precise comparative studies of teacher-students ratios, and Dean of Letters and Science Arthur Darken was accused of "firing faculty on the basis of spurious enrollment estimates."

Utech said that Darken and Ramsden "are not fit to make just personnel decisions."

More than 70 faculty members at Oshkosh have been dismissed since 1972, Utech said, and 22 of them were tenured.

3 Kaukauna grocers seek beer licenses

KAUKAUNA —Three requests from grocery stores for Class B retail beer licenses had been filed with the city clerk by Friday morning.

The requests followed Monday night's health and recreation committee decision to accept applications from grocery stores and other eligible businesses which qualify for the licenses under state statutes.

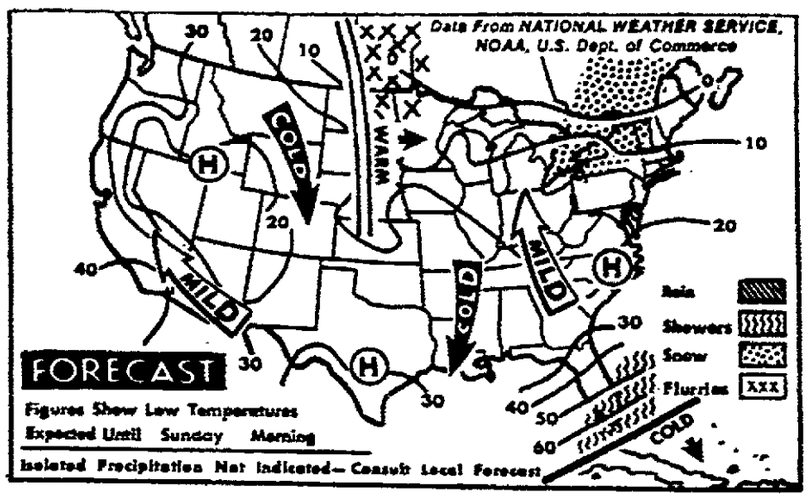

Places seeking licenses are Willie's Red Owl, Wiggie's Food Center and Doering's SuperValu. Additional license requests are anticipated before the committee meets again to review each application.

The city formerly limited sale of beer and intoxicating beverages to beer depots. A change resulted after the city received a request for both a Class A intoxicating liquor and a Class B fermented malt beverage license from a representative of Larry's Piggly Wiggly.

The representative did not make formal application for a license, but merely wanted to know whether the city would permit him to sell such beverages from his supermarket.

After several meetings, including a public hearing, the committee was informed by City Atty. Donald Green that there was no ordinance against issuing licenses to other than operators of beer depots and the council had the right to act on each license application independently.

Although not officially on record, the committee informally agreed with a recommendation by Police Chief William Nagel that intoxicating liquor licenses be limited to beer depots or packaged goods outlets. However, the committee did agree to review applications for beer licenses received from store owners.

Harold D. Roth, 24, Kaukauna, was given a six-month jail term as part of two years' probation when he appeared for sentencing Tuesday on a burglary charge.

The sentence was ordered by Circuit Judge Gordon Myse, before whom Roth recently pleaded guilty to a Nov. 25 break-in at Marti's Spur Station, 1342 W. Prospect Ave., Appleton, in which cigarettes, $20 in change and a portable television set were taken.

Another person charged in connection with the break-in was found guilty of the same charge after a jury trial Tuesday before Myse. He is Sheldon Scheel, 20, Milwaukee.

Myse scheduled sentencing for Scheel for Feb. 21.

Trials were scheduled Tuesday for March 1 and 14 for an Appleton man charged with one felony and two misdemeanor counts of shoplifting and a misdemeanor count of battery.

Circuit Judge Gordon Myse set the trials for Bruce Luecke, 22, 1601 E. Roeland Ave.

The felony count relates to the reported taking of a $125 television set from the downtown Prange's store on Jan. 18. That trial will be March 1.

The other charges will be taken up at the March 14 trial. Those include the theft of a sport coat from the W.A. Close clothing store, 200 E. College Ave., on Jan. 4; the theft of a $3 bedsheet from Prange-way on Jan. 25; and the striking of a Prange-way employe after the latest shoplifting incident.

Courts

Sentencing will be Feb. 22 for Gary Wisneski, 19, route 1, Kaukauna. Wisneski pleaded guilty Thursday to five burglary counts when he appeared before Circuit Court Judge Gordon Myse.

Wisneski had been charged with a total of 12 burglaries. The other seven counts were read into the court record and may be considered by the judge for sentencing purposes.

Wisneski's pleas were identical to those of another man in the case, Rodney B. Peirson, 18, route 1, Seymour. It is expected that sentencing for Peirson, which had been deferred by Myse to April, will be moved up to coincide with that for Wisneski.

The two men had been accused of participating in break-ins in the Freedom, Center Valley, Oneida and Little Chute areas between June 26 and Oct. 9, in which tools, dynamite, beer, cigarettes, an electric calculator and a safe with more than $800 were taken.

Edward C. Maloney, 29, 544 1/2 N. Appleton St., pleaded no contest to an amended charge of battery when he appeared Thursday before Judge Urban P. Van Susteren in Outagamie County Court Branch 1.

Maloney had been charged originally with conduct regardless of life, stemming from a Jan. 7 incident at his apartment in which he reportedly beat his wife. She was hospitalized for nearly two weeks after the incident.

No date was set for sentencing.

Frank A. LeNoble, 64, 201 1/2 W. Wisconsin Ave., Kaukauna, was sentenced Thursday to 43 days in the county jail after he was found guilty of driving while intoxicated.

LeNoble, who pleaded guilty before Judge Nick F. Schaefer in Outagamie County Court Branch 2, took the jail term instead of a $175 fine. LeNoble was given Huber Law privileges.

The defendant was arrested late July 19 in the 300 block of Prospect Street in Combined Locks.

John DeBruin, 18, route 3, Seymour, was placed on the Volunteers in Probation program for six months after he pleaded no contest Thursday to a reduced charge of disorderly conduct.

DeBruin's plea was accepted and the probation ordered by Judge Nick F. Schaefer in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

The defendant, originally charged with battery, had been accused of starting a fight with William J. Krahn, 15, also route 3, Seymour, Sept. 14 at Seymour High School. Krahn reportedly required stitches for mouth cuts sustained in the fight.

OSHKOSH —The case of a University of Wisconsin-Oshkosh student, charged with two drug offenses, was bound over to Circuit Court for trial after a preliminary hearing Thursday before Acting Judge A. Don Zwickey in Winnebago County Court Branch 3.

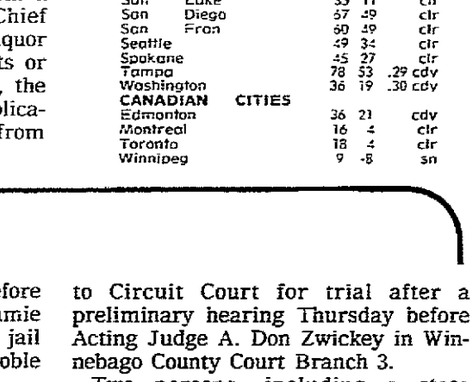

Two persons, including a state chemist, testified at the hearing for Michael J. Houston, 19, 677 Scott Hall. Houston is accused of agreeing to deliver cocaine and methamphetamines.

Zwickey denied a defense request to dismiss the cocaine charge.

Houston was arrested with 10 other young men during a drug raid in Oshkosh during early November.

Initial OK given to plan asking for legal rulings

The coordinating committee has endorsed a request from four supervisors to have Corp. Counsel William Schuh seek attorney general opinions on five questions which have left Outagamie County officials at odds.

The resolution, if adopted by the full board next Tuesday would direct Schuh to seek opinions on:

— Whether the county executive's salary can be raised during his term of office;

—Whether the county clerk or executive have authority over payment of county bills;

—Whether a committee has subpoena powers;

—Clarification powers and functions of the unified mental health services board;

—Functions involving the institution board of trustees.

Another question on whether the office of corporation counsel could be abolished was dropped at the suggestion of County Board Chairman Russell DeLaHunt.

DeLaHunt and three other supervisors had met last Wednesday night in DeLaHunt's office with County Clerk Arthur Hoolihan and Menasha attorney Richard Steffens to draft the request for the legal rulings.

The resolution met with support from all of the coordinating committee except for Supv. Marvin Babbitt who asked, "why was there a meeting called in your office for this?" He then added, "Why bring it (the resolution) here? The people who hired the attorney should present the resolution to the board."

DeLaHunt replied, "Those are kind words considering what I expected from you. I feel I have the backing of 95 per cent of the board."

Supv. Richard Jahnke, one of the supervisors involved in having the resolution drafted, said he did so because the situation of the last few months has almost brought county operations to a halt. "I can't see any objection to anyone saying they would like a clarification of these questions," Jahnke said. "The only place we can get a binding interpretation from is the attorney general."

In other action, the controversial attorney bill for Health Center Supv. Eugene Speener has now made its way to the finance committee. The bill was turned over to the committee by Schuh this morning.

DeLaHunt, referring to the $1,250 bill as an "administrative matter," said he didn't want any more references to him made about the bill. He was referring to two communications sent to him from the finance committee asking why the bill had not been referred to them.

Supv. John Marzion, vice chairman of the finance committee, said his committee "was not aiming at this committee (coordinating) or anyone else. But when someone does some work you either pay the bill or deny it so the person knows where he stands."

Speener had submitted the bill for attorney fees he incurred during a lengthy John Doe investigation. At DeLaHunt's direction the bill was to be "held in abeyance—forever." Members of the finance committee felt the bill should either be paid or denied, but not just held.

Schuh said that his opinion that the county was obligated to pay the bill still stood, but agreed the county board had the authority to deny payment and then wait for the attorney to take the next step.

DeLaHunt wanted to know why the bill was in front of a committee if bill paying was an administrative function. Schuh said there is no money budgeted for that purpose, so county board action would be needed.

Residents of King could retain assets

Post-Crescent Madison bureau

MADISON —Gov. Patrick J. Lucey's state budget revision, as presented to the legislature, would, if enacted into law, change substantially the conditions for eligibility for residence at the Grand Army Home for Veterans at King.

It asks for liberalization of the amount of assets an otherwise eligible applicant would be permitted to retain upon admission.

The new rule would permit the same sum of monthly income and total assets that nursing home residents are permitted under the rules for the administration of Medicaid.

Under current rules, the King resident is permitted a monthly private income of $40.50 and $1,000 in assets.

Under the new rules the income allowance would be raised slightly, more liquid assets could be held and residents also would be permitted to retain life insurance with a face value of up to $1,500, up to $1,200 in the value of an automobile and a house of up to $25,000, if the beneficiary may return to it, for a total of permitted assets of about $29,000, according to an explanatory book distributed to the legislature.

Wife to be tried in stabbing death of man

OSHKOSH — A 41-year-old Oshkosh woman charged with the Sept. 30 first degree murder of her husband, was bound over to Circuit Court Friday.

Defendant Susan A. Clemans, 935 Nicolet Ave., sat silently in court while Winnebago County Dist. Atty. Leo Mack and defense attorney Lewis Magnusen questioned the five witnesses called by the state.

Mrs. Clemans did not testify. She is alleged to have stabbed her 41-year-old husband, Charles, in the family room of their home while he was watching television.

After hearing testimony identifying the deceased from a Mercy Medical Center pathologist and technician, Mack called Kenneth Schiefelbein to the stand.

Schiefelbein, a neighbor of the Clemanses said that while he and his wife were scrubbing a carpet that Sunday afternoon, he heard a scream. The witness said he then heard someone yell, "Help, Ken!"

Upon entering his garage, Schiefelbein said he saw Mrs. Clemans holding a kitchen knife and chasing her husband, who seemed to be bleeding from his back and arm.

According to the witness, the next thing the victim said was, "We got to get the knife away from my wife." Mrs. Clemans at that time, he testified, turned her back on her husband, who then grabbed her, forcing her to drop the knife.

Schiefelbein said he then grabbed Mrs. Clemans' wrists and put them behind her back. After calling to his wife to contact the police and ambulance, Schiefelbein said he ushered Mrs. Clemans out of the garage and took her with him to find medical help.

Still holding the defendant, the witness said he ran across several yards until he found a neighbor whom he asked to make sure that an ambulance and police were coming. He asked another neighbor to come and help with Clemans.

Schiefelbein said he then took Mrs. Clemans back to her house, where they waited in the driveway for police and the ambulance. He said that while standing there, Mrs. Clemans told him, "You have no idea what he had done to me."

From testimony given by two officers of the Winnebago County Sheriff's Department, it was learned that Mrs. Clemans was handcuffed when the police arrived and her cut fingers were bandaged. She was taken by squad car to the hospital, where her husband was already on his way via ambulance. Clemans was pronounced dead at the hospital at 3:24 p.m. about one-half hour after being stabbed.

Mrs. Clemans gave an unsigned statement to an officer at the hospital, but this was not allowed, at the defense's objection, by Judge A. Donald Zwickey to be admitted as evidence at today's hearing. Magnusen pointed out that at the time she gave the statement, Mrs. Clemans could have been in shock and, in fact, later did not remembering giving it.

After hearing all testimony, Zwickey ruled that a crime probably was committed and the case would be bound over to Circuit Court for trial.

Mrs. Clemans, who since her husband's death has been residing at Winnebago Mental Health Institute, where she had undergone tests, was allowed to continue to stay there. She was released on her own recognizance.

A date will be set later for her arraignment in Circuit Court.

Senate defeats bill for longer tavern hours

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau

MADISON — Revealing its desire to prevent the loss of local government control, the state Senate Thursday slapped down a bill that would require all state municipalities to allow their taverns to stay open until 2 a.m. on weekdays and 3:30 a.m. on Sunday morning.

The Senate polled decisively, 23-6, to put an end to legislation spearheaded by Republicans James Devitt of Greenfield and Reuben LaFave of Oconto, that would conform the rest of the state with the Milwaukee County tavern hours.

While the bill proponents leaned heavily on the argument that uniformity would reduce late-night highway accidents caused by a dash to a neighboring municipality tavern, the opponents quickly jumped on the popular bandwagon demanding continuation of local control.

The present state law allows Milwaukee County taverns to remain open until the hours mentioned in the bill. The other taverns in the state must close by 1 a.m. weeknights and 2 a.m. early Sunday morning. Local governmental bodies have the power to require earlier closing times if they wish.

Sen. Thomas Petri, R-Fond du Lac, led the opposition to the bill, stating that if uniformity was the goal, the earlier hours would be more desirable. He also recommended that legislation be introduced establishing earlier uniform hours but allowing local municipalities to set earlier times if they wished.

"Why should the people of Milwaukee County have later hours than the rest of the state?" Devitt said. "This discriminates against the rest of the people in the state. Are the people outside Milwaukee too immature?"

Sen. Gordon Roseleip, R-Darlington, one of the strongest advocates of local government rights, supported the bill because he said "human lives are more important than local control.

Roseleip said that many persons in the southwestern portion of the state drive to East Dubuque, Iowa, after Wisconsin's closing hours since the Iowa hours are later. This, he says, results in many fatal accidents.

LaFave, who pointed out that inconsistent hours caused by different municipalities creates a hazard in the northern part of the state where snowmobilers attempt to reach a tavern that they feel may be open later. LaFave said that problems will result from non-uniform hours when bingo becomes commonplace in the state.

But the Senate would have nothing of that argument and even Sen. Clifford (Tiny) Krueger, R-Merrill, a co-sponsor of the bill, voted against it in the final ballot.

New London residents can engrave valuables

NEW LONDON —Project Stop Thief, a program designed to decrease thefts through the identification and registration of valuables, is being conducted here by the Woman's Club.

Club members have received record keeping forms, warning stickers and engraving tools. The group will offer them to other clubs and the public in the future.

Mrs. Elmer Helgeson, project chairman, said, "Maybe you can't do much to prevent a burglar from breaking into your house, but at least you can discourage him from taking your television sets, stereo, skis or golf clubs.

"All it takes is a couple of minutes to engrave your Social Security number on anything you have at home that you'd like back in the event it is stolen and recovered. The program is being conducted nationwide in more than 1,000 communities. It's making stolen goods too hot to handle," she said.

"Insurance companies and police departments are enthusiastic over the program. If stolen goods are engraved, it makes it easier for the police to track them down. If they are returned, the insurance companies save money."

The Woman's Club purchased two engravers and registration forms and warning stickers. Record forms will be filed at the New London Police Department when the project is finished.

The materials will be given to police after local clubs are finished with them, so other citizens can use the tools to engrave their possessions.

Valley road needs set at $46 million

BY ARLEN BOARDMAN
Post-Crescent staff writer

The Wisconsin Department of Transportation would favor spending $46 million on road projects in Calumet, Winnebago, Outagamie and Waupaca counties in the next five years, if it had the money.

A recently released list of proposed state trunk, county trunk and street projects shows the department would authorize $21.4 million in projects for Outagamie, $13 million for Winnebago, $9 million for Waupaca and $2.8 million for Calumet.

Among the major projects listed for completion in the 1974-79 period would be $11.8 million for reconstructing U.S. 10 for 13.6 miles from U.S. 41 to the west Outagamie line; $3.5 million for the state's share of the Oneida high level span, and $2.3 million for reconstructing to expressway standards a four-mile stretch of 41 from the north junction of Outagamie 00 to the east county line.

But money is likely to be an obstacle, said a department spokesman, and as a result, the department probably will be continuing its priority-setting system for state trunks, county trunks and municipal roads, as well as handling administration costs.

As it stands now, the department is anticipating accumulating about $2.3 million in revenues during the next five years from federal and state gasoline taxes and federal aids. However, the department has $4 billion in projected minimum needs statewide.

The amount of gasoline tax that will be available is a questionmark in light of the energy situation. The DOT spokesman said that the revenue estimate was $300 million below earlier estimates.

He also reported that revenue reports for gasoline tax receipts showed a 5.5 per cent decline. With February fuel allocations projected to be down 13 per cent, the revenues can be expected to be down 13 per cent, he said.

The spokesman said the DOT proposed three-cent a gallon gasoline tax hike and the $6 hike for registration would only produce another $80 million annually. That measure is only in the proposal stages.

Almost all the Outagamie projects are in the immediate Fox Cities area while about $5 million of Winnebago's is in the Twin Cities area and one of Calumet's projects is $840,000 for reconstructing 1.4 miles of State 114 to Appleton.

In Outagamie, the largest project is the reconstructing of 13.6 miles of the controversial stretch of 10 from 41 to the west county line just west of Dale. The road presumably would be widened and possibly relocated in segments, and the estimated cost is $11,880,000. Another project is the $10.5 million Oneida Street bridge into downtown Appleton, with the state, county and city sharing the cost equally. That project was pushed last year, but was halted at least temporarily when the city couldn't legally provide its share of the cost.

The 41 reconstruction to expressway standards from the north junction of County Trunk 00 to the east county line is part of the continuing 41 upgrading that started south of Fond du Lac several years ago.

Other reconstruction projects include a mile of 10 (S. Oneida Street in Appleton) for $310,000; a half mile of State 54 from Wolf River to State 187 in Shiocton, $137,000; .2 mile of State 125 (College Avenue), $175,000, and half a mile of State 29 from the north county line to the east county line, reconstructing to expressway standards, $305,000.

The resurfacing projects in the county include State 54 — 6.5 miles from Black Creek to Seymour, $268,000, 6.9 miles from Seymour to Oneida, $275,000, and 15.5 miles from New London to Black Creek, $620,000; State 76 — .4 mile (Elm Street, Shiocton), $30,000, and 23.3 miles from U.S. 45 to Bear Creek, $466,000;

State 55, 8.9 miles from Seymour to State 47, $267,000; State 96, 3.7 miles from Kaukauna to the east county line, $74,000; State 156, 6.0 miles from State 87 to 47, $120,000, and State 87, 10.8 miles from 54 to the north county line, $216,000.

Other projects are a signal at the Badger Avenue crossing in Appleton on 10 for $20,000 and safety improvements on 47 for a mile from 41 to County Trunk JJ, $400,000.

The major Calumet projects include reconstructing 10 for 1.4 miles from State 114 to Appleton for $840,000 and reconstructing the 10 bridge at the West Forest Junction overhead for $540,000 and U.S. 151, the West Hayton overhead, for $368,000.

Other projects include resurfacing 9.2 miles of 10 from the mid-junction of 114 to the west junction of State 57 for $280,000; 7.6 miles of 57 from Chilton to Hilbert, $300,000, and 6.1 miles of State 149 from the west county line to Kiel, $250,000.

The Waupaca projects include $1.6 million for the long bridge at Fremont on 10 and $1 million for reconstructing 22-45 from the railroad tracks to 14th street, $3 million for constructing 10.4 miles of State 22 from County Trunk K to the east county line, and resurfacing, reconditioning and widening 22-54 for 8.5 miles from State 49 in Waupaca to 54-22, $1.5 million.

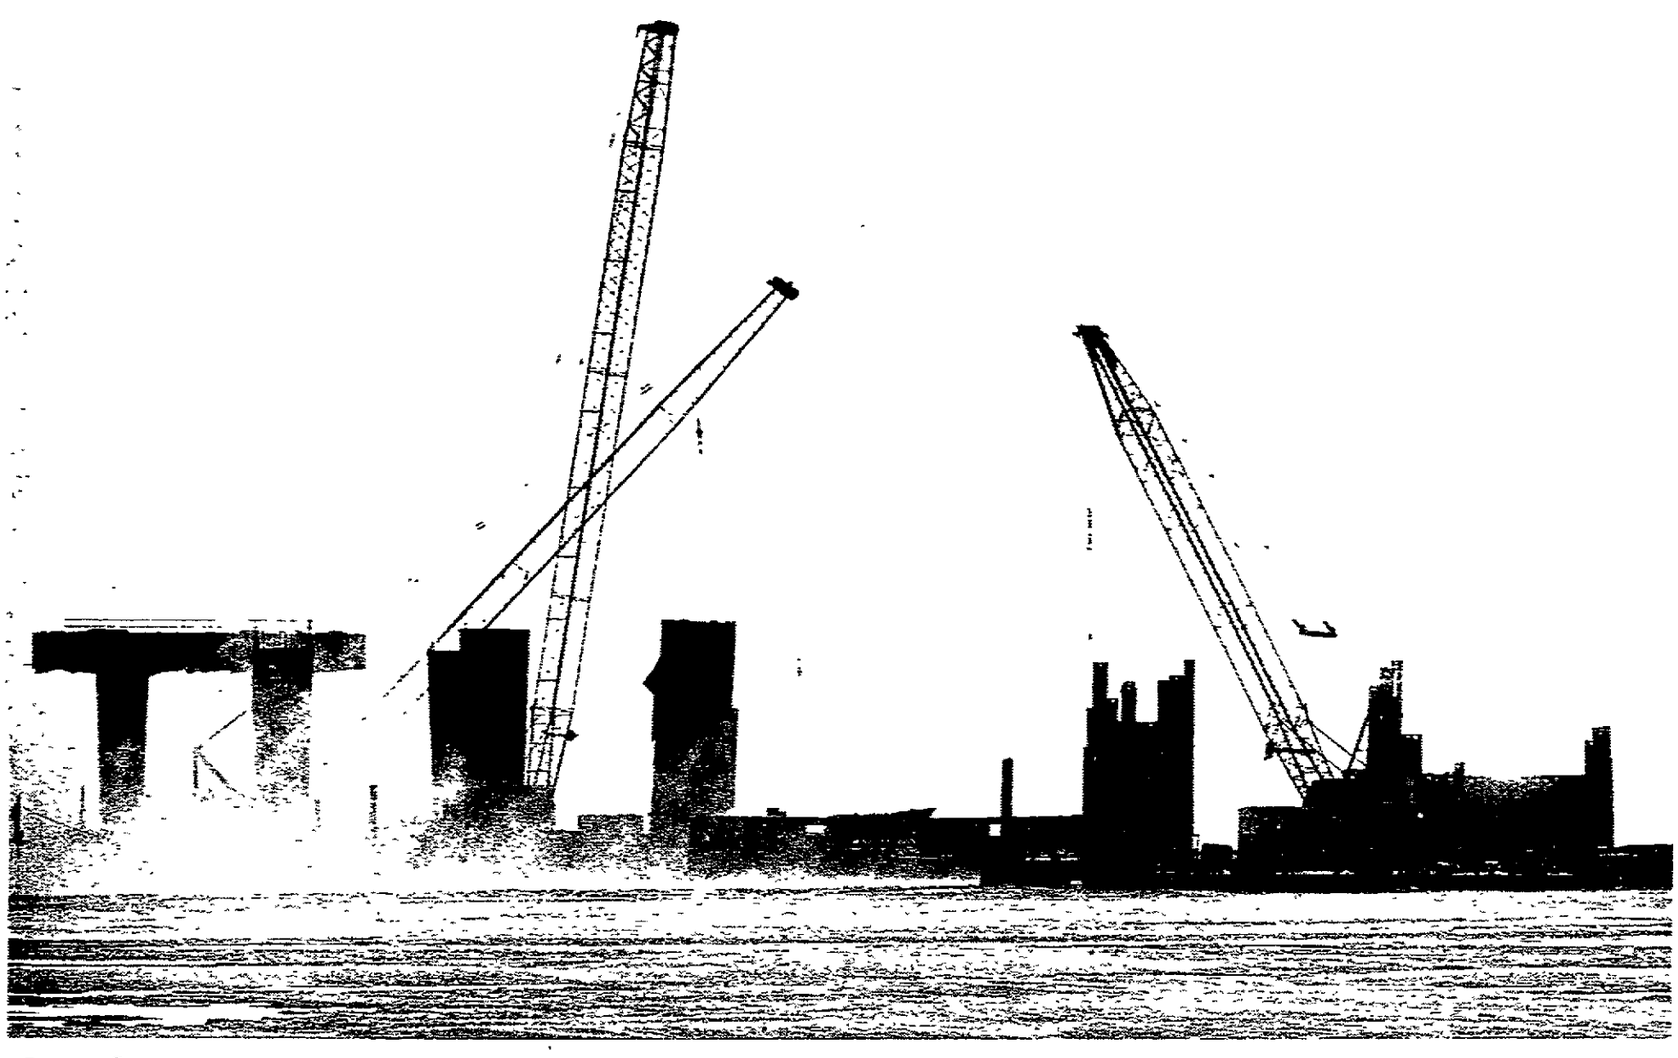

The state accepted a list of 20 projects for the county, including numerous resurfacings. The roads included in the projects are 22, 49, 54, State 161, State 110, State 156 and U.S. 45.

Local officials asked that $25.7 million for reconstructing 45 for 23 miles from the east county line to the north county line, and $10,000 for traffic control on state trunks in New London be included in the list. The state included them, but it doesn't intend to place them high in the priority listing.

The Winnebago projects include $1.6 million for updating 41 from the county line to the U.S. 21 overpass, $880,000 for improving State 150 from Winchester to Neenah, and $700,000 for a new bridge on 21 (Oshkosh Avenue, Oshkosh).

Twin Cities projects include $350,000 for reconstructing 114 (Canal and Walnut streets, Neenah) for a bypass of 150-114 traffic; $190,000 for updating the Foster Street and 47 intersection in the Town of Menasha; $355,000 for reconstructing 114 through the Twin Cities, and $170,000 for rebuilding Winneconne Avenue.

Salary pacts fill next agenda of county board

By DON CASTONIA
Post-Crescent staff writer

Wage settlements for all Outagamie County employes not involved in union negotiations will be submitted to the county board for approval Tuesday.

Ten of 21 items on Tuesday's agenda relate to employe salaries, including the settlement with the County Professional Police Association.

All of the salary settlements, with two exceptions, call for 5.5 per cent wage hikes. Included in the settlements are courthouse and health center employes not eligible to join the unions, appointed department heads, elected officials, sheriff's department lieutenant, university extension department employes and the judges.

The two exceptions to the 5.5 per cent increases are the second assistant district attorney and the undersheriff. In addition to the percentage increase, the second assistant district attorney will receive $1,600 to bring his annual salary to $12,572, and the undersheriff will receive $1,017, to raise his salary to $11,449.

The additional raises in those two positions were requested by the sheriff and district attorney on the contention they would not be able to retain the people at the existing salary range.

The pay raise for the judges and the extension office personnel is based only on the portion of the salaries paid by the county.

In the case of the judges, it will increase the county supplement from $4,526 to $4,775 for the three county judges and from $3,669 to $3,871 for the circuit court judge. All of the judges received $4,474 increases from the state to raise their total salary to $27,249 for the county judges and $28,845 for the circuit court judge.

In the university extension office the state pays a percentage of the salaries.

A proposal from the special equalization committee to ask for a state feasibility study on the county assessor system is expected to run into opposition from rural supervisors. The feasibility study would be part of a more extensive look into the question by the committee.

Also up for action will be the two ordinances covering the duties and authority of the county executive and county board chairman. The operating rules of the board will not be submitted until the March meeting.

An alternate organizational plan also will be presented to the board by Supv. Eugene Kloes.

Supervisors also will view a presentation by the East Central Regional Planning Commission on proposals for the Tri-County Expressway.

Judge may yield about arrearages

Outagamie County Judge R. Thomas Cane said he would be willing to "back off" on his policy of diverting 25 per cent of family support arrearage collections to the county treasury if the program conflicts with state Department of Health and Social Services policies.

But, Cane told the judiciary and enforcement committee Friday, he did not feel the county should spend time and money collecting the arrearages and not be paid for it.

County Executive Alvin Woehler had scheduled a luncheon meeting with the county judges this noon to discuss the feasibility of the county charging a "collection fee" which would come off the top of arrearage collections before the split is made between state, federal and county.

Cane told the committee that if the arrearage collections were turned over to a collection agency, the agency would take 50 per cent as its fee. Arrearages in the county are collected through the family court commissioner's office.

James Stampp, county social services department director, has taken issue with Cane's practice of turning over 25 per cent of the collections to the county treasury.

In a letter Wednesday to Woehler and the judges, Stampp said the county's share of support payments is 23.1 per cent and not 25 per cent. He said the state and federal agencies take their 76.9 per cent out of his budget regardless of how the court splits the collection.

Stampp said that if the money isn't credited to his budget, the state and federal portions are taken from the county share of his budget, resulting in a budget deficit.

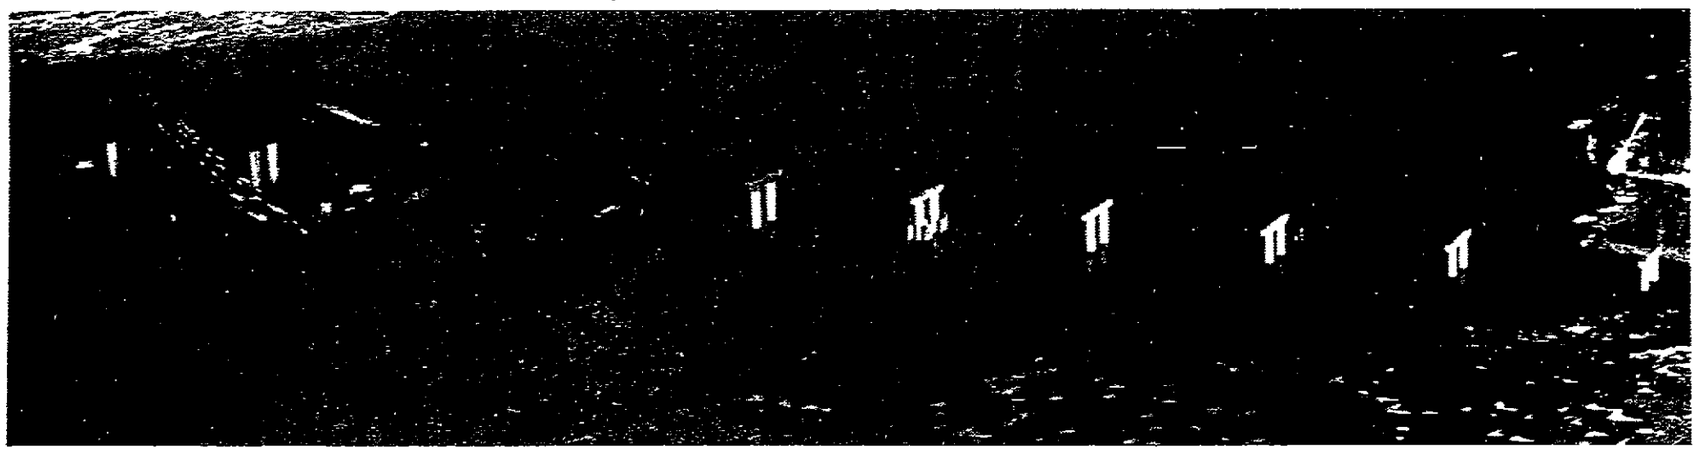

Stampp also was miffed that he was never consulted about the issue.

Cane told the committee it was his feeling that the county should get paid just as well as the state and federal governments.

Cane also reported that his experience of handling support matters indicated "there is very little accountability" for people collecting assistance from the social services department.

He said he has seen many cases where a woman is receiving assistance as the result of a divorce and the court discovers the man is back living with her. Or, the woman collecting assistance and working without the social services department knowing about it. He said there also have been cases of the woman receiving assistance while the ex-husband is making support payments directly to her.

"That is why I have ordered all support payments be made through the clerk of courts office," Cane said. "These cases shouldn't have to come to court to find out what is happening."

Criticism leads to flood action

BY JOHN LEE
Post-Crescent staff writer

NEW LONDON — Two of the major proposals to help control future flooding in the area — the lowering of the plug blocking the Rasmussen Canal and the installation of culverts under Waupaca County Trunk X to move flood waters into the Mukwa Marsh — moved toward possible implementation after a hastily called flood control committee meeting Friday morning.

Mayor Herman Gagnow called the meeting after criticism that the committee was not producing and after learning that state Rep. Francis Byers, R-Marion, who proposed most of the program last summer, would be in the area.

Public Works Director Robert Martin said lowering the 600-foot plug that blocks the canal, which will reroute flood waters around the city and into the Mukwa swamp, would cost about $2,000. He said preliminary plans call for lowering a 150-foot-wide section of the plug three feet, enabling water from the Embarrass River to enter the canal before the Wolf and Embarrass reach excessive flood levels.

He also said the state Department of Natural Resources told him a permit wouldn't be needed for the project, since less than 10,000 square feet of exposed shoreline are affected.

He said he has only verbal assurance from DNR now, but the agency said it would send him a letter confirming their conversation. "If we get a letter from DNR saying we don't need a permit to lower the plug and we can afford it, we'll probably lower the plug. And I think we'll be able to afford it."

Plans for installing devices under X to route flood waters into the DNR-controlled Mukwa Wildlife Refuge also started moving after a DNR spokesman told Byers he didn't anticipate any problems getting state approval for the project.

Byers' proposal, which would move water into the marsh, called for the construction of a spillway for a bridge, or the installation of culverts under the road where a 40-foot bridge was replaced by a single 36-inch culvert in 1968. The culvert wasn't designed to move flood waters, but was installed strictly to pump water into the swamp during low level periods in the summer.

Byers blasted the DNR tunnel vision when referring to a January, 1968, letter that said, "We have no need for the existing bridge in the Town of Mukwa on X."

The Waupaca County Republican said DNR was watching out for the water levels in the wildlife refuge while not showing any consideration for the people in New London.

"If it comes to a choice between me and the ducks, it's going to be me," he told the committee.

Raymond Moe, Waupaca County highway commissioner, said, "The highway department would be glad, to go along with something if somebody tells us exactly what would help."

He recommended that the committee determine, through an engineering study, the grade, size, exact location and elevation of culverts. "We like to work with something — we like to work with plans that are set," he added.

While Moe said a spillway probably would be cheaper to install and possibly more efficient in routing the flood water, he pointed out that a spillway across the road would require the closing of the highway each spring when water came up.

Harlan Kiesow of the East-Central Wisconsin Regional Planning Commission cautioned the committee to move slowly, and said some of its ideas could be proven ineffective by a three-year study the commission expects to start this summer. "What you do here might affect Shiocton — your have to look at it on a broad scale," he said.

"But on that same idea, we have a letter from the DNR that is detrimental to New London," Byers countered, referring to the 1968 letter.

"One by one these ponds and the Mukwa marsh aren't going to do the job," Byers said. "We're either going to have to do the whole thing or it won't help."

"There's no way you're ever going to control a flood like we had last year, but (controlling) that last inch just might help," Martin said. "That is what we have in mind — not doing one thing to relieve the flood, but doing thousands of things to help."

When asked if his agency could perform the needed engineering work for the culvert project, Kiesow said, "I suppose we could become involved, but I think there would be people who would be more appropriate, such as the DNR," He later said he would check to see what arrangements could be made for the engineering.

Kiesow said the planning commission could help most by coordinating efforts.

New London church site of faith celebration

NEW LONDON — Area churches will observe the World Day of Prayer, marking the international celebration of faith and unity among women, at Trinity Lutheran Church on S. Shawano Street on March 1.

Four local clergymen will participate in a panel discussion on "Love, be builders of peace." The panel will include the Revs. Michael Minten of St. John Episcopal Church, George Robson of the First Methodist Church, Leroy Smet of Most Precious Blood Catholic Church, and Kenneth Nichols of the First Assembly of God Church. Mrs. Claire Badcock is planning committee chairman.

An interdenominational choir will be directed by Mrs. Richard Schroeder and Mrs. Donald Stettler. A coffee hour will follow the 7:30 p.m. service.

A vigil will start at 8:30 a.m. and continue until 5 p.m.

State seeks answers on fuel profits

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—A special hearing unfolded like a mystery novel at the state Capitol Friday with the question: Who is ending up with the profits from rising fuel prices?

After a day-long session sponsored by two of Wisconsin's Democratic congessmen, David Obey and Robert Kastenmeier, the puzzle remained unsolved.

"The jobbber is making less profit today than he was three or four years ago," Robert Felker, director of the Wisconsin Petroleum Association, testified.

Felker said the 500 jobbers or middlemen in his organization recently received a half-cent profit increase. But 3-to 10 cent price hikes are being passed on to them by the oil companies, he said.

Tom Coenen, president of the Madison Gas Retailers Association, said service station operators have not received a fair share of the profits from higher gasoline prices.

"It is definitely not going to the service station operator's pocket," he said. "I have to assume that the profits are going to the oil companies."

Harry Rinkema, regional vice president of the Standard Oil Division Amoco Oil Co., said jobbers and gasoline etailers made bigger profits last year than in previous years.

Rinkema said his company's profits increased from $374 million in 1972 to $511 million in 1973.

But, he said, 40-45 per cent of the profits went as dividends to stockholders while most of the rest went to efforts to find more fuel.

Coenen said hundreds of Wisconsin service stations have closed and more will follow unless dealer get bigger profits.

Several witnesses told the congressmen that fuel prices, not shortages, bother them most.

"We seem to see plenty of supplies available. It is the prices that frighten us," William Kuenzi of the National Farmers Organization said.

Harold Rohr, president of the Madison Building Trades Council, said no shortages of fuel were turned up in a survey of the construction industry in Wisconsin last summer.

"There was all of the diesel oil, fuel oil and gasoline you wanted, if you could pay for it," he said.

'Bewailing modern generation gap? Consider Mary's plight'

BY GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religious Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — When modern mothers bewail the "generation gap" between them and their offspring, an Ohio priest suggests they consider the even more trying difficulties that existed for Mary in regard to her son, Jesus.

Like many present-day parents, she was baffled, shocked and bewildered at His conduct, says the Rev. Frank E. Fortkamp, but she persevered in her loyalty to Him despite the problems.

That makes her a particularly appropriate "model for parents" in these times of strain between them and their young, Father Fortkamp says, and it offers parents a "consoling message."

He "was the most radical leader who ever lived," attacking the "very roots of the society" and was a problem to Mary "as well as to His whole generation," says Father Fortkamp, of Mount Vernon, Ohio.

Writing in the U.S. Catholic, a national magazine published in Chicago by the Claretian Fathers, he says "some faulty commentaries have made Mary's role 'look easy'," but Scriptures makes plain it was otherwise.

"It is difficult to imagine the consternation of the law-abiding mother of Jesus when she heard reports of what her son was saying in public, and when she heard Him herself," Father Fortkamp says.

Indeed, the Gospels recount that she and other relatives became so alarmed that "they came to take charge of Him, saying, 'He is out of His mind," as Mark 3 puts it, but He persisted in His ministry.

Even at the outset, when the heavenly messenger informed Mary she was to bear a divine son, her "initial reaction was not joy but fear" and "lack of understanding" about what was happening to her, Father Fortkamp notes.

Again, when Jesus as a boy of 12 disappeared in Jerusalem, distraught parents spent three days looking for Him before finding Him at the Temple, only to be baffled at His response to them.

"Why were you looking for me?" He asked. "Did you not know that I must be busy with my Father's affairs?"

As Luke 2 observes, "they did not understand what He meant," but "His mother stored up all these things in her heart."

When Jesus began preaching, He became "the unwelcome prophet, the gadfly stinging the hypocrisy of the establishment" and He "antagonized the lawand-order authorities of His time," Father Fortkamp says.

"The revolutionary nature of what her son had to say was just as hard for Mary to grasp as for any one else."

Father Fortkamp says many church people today "have missed the full force of the impact Jesus had on His own times," and even for Mary, it took a "lifelong struggle to fully understand" the good news of the Gospel.

"Mary, like everyone who personally heard and hears what Jesus had to say, had to struggle against all the tendencies of human nature to resist the truth," Father Fortkamp says.

"Right up to the foot of the cross, and beyond, Mary struggled with the truth even while affirming her belief in her son. And it is far from irreverent to suggest that the intimacy of the mother-son relationship made it even more difficult for Mary ...

"What parent is naturally and completely willing to learn from his child?"

However, Father Fortkamp says "parents can and should learn from their children, many of whom have a heightened social consciousness ... Parents today need an added measure of patience to continue to stand by their children ...

"Mary, greatest of parents that she was, took time to grow and learn fr her son."

Alternate school proposed for protesting Concordia students

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A plan has been proposed that would enable protesting students at Concordia Lutheran Seminary here to continue their education while maintaining their moratorium of classes at the seminary.

Dr. Robert Bertram spokesman for the faculty majority which is also protesting the suspension of Concordia President John H. Tietjen, announced the program for an alternate school Wednesday night.

The proposal, he said, is an attempt on the part of the faculty majority to insure that the striking students can complete academic requirements during the winter and spring quarters.

Both the 43-member faculty majority and about 400 of the school's 420 resident students began boycotting classes almost immediately after Dr. Tietjen's Jan. 20 suspension by the Concordia Board of Control in connection with allegations of teaching false doctrine.

"They have become our marvelous, happy burden," Dr. Bertram said of the protesting students. "We suddenly have inherited a student body that we are no more willing to separate ourselves from than our wives or children."

Under the plan, the alternate school would be accredited through the Lutheran School of Technology in Chicago and probably would be located temporarily on the campus of St. Louis University, Dr. Bertram said.

Since Dr. Martin Scharlemann, acting Concordia president, tried to resume a normal class schedule 11 days ago, less than two dozen students have attended those class sessions.

James Nickols, student spokesman, said he expected the protesting students to take advantage of the alternative school.

Chardin topic of FVC seminar

A seminar on the writings of Teilhard de Chardin, whose works once were forbidden by the Vatican, has been slated at the University of Wisconsin Center-Fox Valley.

The classes will meet from 9:30 to 11 a.m. Wednesdays, beginning next week. They will run through March 20.

Chardin died in 1955. During his lifetime, few had an opportunity to read his works, but now he has become one of the better read theologians of his time.

The instructor will be J. Wilbur Vickery, director of Camus Center for the Humanities, a nonprofit corporation in Suamico.

Vatican objects to Mindszenty's statements

VATICAN CITY (AP) —The Vatican today rejected Josef Cardinal Mindszenty's attack against the papal decision to dismiss him as Hungarian primate and archbishop. The Vatican said it was the Pope's "power and duty" to do so.

The long statement wrapped in diplomatically courteous language could hardly disguise the harsh clash of wills between Pope Paul VI and the defiant foe of communism.

The Vatican secretariat of state brought its criticism of Cardinal Mindszenty's attitude into the open after the prelate attacked Pope Paul's policy of reconciliation with the Communist East bloc.

In a statement released in Vienna where he lives, the cardinal said Thursday he "neither abdicated from his archbishop's office nor from the dignity as primate of Hungary. The decision was taken by the Holy See alone."

The cardinal, who left Hungary in 1971 after seven years in a Communist jail and 15 years of seclusion in the U.S. legation in Budapest, said Pope Paul was favoring bishops and priests "established and controlled by the Communist regime."

The cardinal, who turns 82 in March, has been away from his archdiocesan see of Esztergom for 25 years. His dismissal came along with the nomination of a resident prelate to run the local Church as an apostolic administrator pending further action.

A Vatican spokesman said there were other reasons for the cardinal's removal besides the fact that he was an absentee bishop.

He noted that all bishops in the Roman Catholic Church have been asked by Pope Paul to submit their resignation upon turning 75.

'I did not abdicate'

VIENNA (AP) —Hungary's exiled Josef Cardinal Mindszenty said today in a statement that he did not step down voluntarily as archbishop of Esztergom and primate of the Hungarian Church.

The statement was the first from Cardinal Mindszenty since Tuesday's announcement by the Vatican that Pope Paul had declared the archdiocese of Esztergom vacant and appointed an apostolic administrator to run it. He said he did so in order that the archdiocese, which includes Budapest and conveys the rank of primate of Hungary, might have a resident bishop.

Cardinal Mindszenty, who will be 82 on March 29, stressed in the statement that he "neither abdicated from his archbishop's office nor from the dignity as primate of Hungary. The decision was taken by the Holy See alone."

"Some news agencies conveyed the Vatican's decision in such a way as though Josef Cardinal Mindszenty had voluntarily withdrawn into retirement," the statement said.

It added that in the interest of truth Cardinal Mindszenty empowered his secretariat to issue a statement denying reports that the removal was based on mutual agreement.

Seminarians drop 55 per cent

WASHINGTON, D.C. —The number of students for the priesthood has dropped 55 per cent in the last six years, according to a recent report by the Center for Applied Research in the Apostolate.

This includes an 11 per cent drop in the past year, the new figures show.

High school, college and theology students for the priesthood, plus novices in religious orders, totaled 38,327 in the 1967-68 school year. This school year the figure was 17,334.

The editor of CARA Seminary Report attributed the decline to a number of factors in the church and American society. He stressed the lack of active vocation recruitment among priests and the lack of solid diocesan vocational programs as the two major problems.

One of the most serious declines, indicating the outlook for the future is poor, is the drop in college-level enrollments. In 1967 there were 13,088 collegians and 7,865 theologians. This year the number of college students dropped below the number of theologians, indicating there won't be many to draw from when those wishing to continue into the school of theology are winnowed out.

Skating party

The Rev. Robert Murphy, pastor of Wesleyan Church, takes part in a roller skating party, a part of the special event his church had for area youth recently. With him is his wife, Martha, and their son, Kenneth. Murphy has had two kidney transplant operations during the past few years and has lost both. Many groups and organizations assisted in buying him a dialysis machine, which he can use at home while waiting for another kidney donation. (Post-Crescent photo)

He will participate in a mass of fools at the family service as a finale to his week's performances at Lawrence University.

A fellowship, sponsored by the youth group, will follow.

Father's murder-torture trial delayed in Florida

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — An attorney says the trial of Ernest J. Dobbert Jr. on charges of killing two of his children and torturing two others should be delayed until it is determined whether he can be tried under Florida's new death-penalty law.

The trial of the former Wisconsin resident is set tentatively for the last two weeks in March.

John Southwood, assistant public defender, asked the Florida Supreme Court on Friday to delay the trial until that court decides which law applies.

Another case is now on appeal to the Florida Supreme Court challenging the right of the state to try a defendant under the 1973 law for an alleged offense occurring before the law was passed.

If not, the maximum penalty would be life in prison.

Circuit Judge Hudson Olliff previously refused to delay Doggert's trial until the issue is resolved.

Dobbert, 40, was charged anew in an amended indictment Friday.

Two murder charges were unchanged but wome counts of torture were dropped because attorneys said they were outside the statute of limitations.

The defendant is accused of fatally wounding Kelly Elizabeth Dobbert, 9, in 1971 and Ryder Scott Dobbert, 7, in 1972. Their bodies have never been found.

The other charges are that Dobbert tortured Ernest John Dobbert III, 13, and Honore Dobbert, 7. The two children are in Wisconsin child-care facilities.

the history of human exploration."

Skylab project manager William C. Schneider said Friday's splashdown "completes what I would consider the historical phase of Skylab."

He said the science phase would begin now, with scores of scientists evaluating the photographs, electronic tapes and other pieces of Skylab information.

Despite a leak in one of two identical rocket steering systems, the ferry ship's return from the 272-mile-high space station went without a hitch.

Propellent began streaming from the rocket system after the ferry ship left the space station early Friday morning. It was, however, only a backup system that the astronauts would have used only if the primary system had failed.

"What a beautiful sight!" exclaimed Carr as the spacecraft hurtled toward earth.

Hanging from three orange-and-white-striped parachutes, the cone-shaped capsule hit the water 3½ miles from the New Orleans, then turned upside down. Within a few minutes, air bags righted the spacecraft, and frogmen jumped from hovering helicopters to attach flotation gear.

"It's good to be back, glad to be home," the astronauts rejoiced.

The New Orleans drew alongside and hoisted the spacecraft aboard. Doctors made a preliminary check of pulses and blood pressures, then helped the astronauts out of the hatch.

As a brass band played welcoming music, Gibson, then Pogue and Carr were helped to a nearby platform that was carried by a forklift truck to mobile laboratories on the carrier's hangar deck.

Gibson was clean-shaven, but his crewmates had heavy beards.

Doctors said the men were dizzy at first but felt none of the nausea that had plagued previous Skylab crews.

"I feel great," announced Gibson.

It was the first recovery of an American space crew in nearly a decade that was not covered by live television, the networks having decided it was not newsworthy enough to justify the cost.

Pension plan unlikely for volunteer firemen

Post-Crescent Madison bureau

MADISON — A legislative advisory committee consisting of specialists on public employe pensions has filed a critical and probably fatal report on a proposal to establish a pension system for members of small town volunteer fire departments.

The measure was inspired by the Little Chute volunteer fire fighters and presented in the assembly at the request of Thomas Lamers of that community.

The joint survey committee on retirement systems said that the bill contains many errors and is not based on sound actuarial principles.

Moreover, the need and justification for such a system has not been established, the technicians said, recommending that the bill be defeated and that the legislature refer the idea of such pensions to the official state retirement research committee if the law-makers feel there is merit in the plan.

The committee study reported that there are more than 750 of the volunteer fire fighting units in the state and that they have enrolled more than 22,500 members.

Under the bill draft as presented to the legislature, employer contributions to the retirement fund would be at the rate of five dollars a month, and the committee noted that such funding would probably provide only for a $20 a month benefit for the firemen with 30 years of service. Moreover, the question of the willingness and vagueness of the employe's contributions make the plan difficult to appraise accurately, it was said.

The advisory report asked that the legislature refer the measure to the retirement research council for further study and revision, if the law-makers feel the plan has merit for consideration at a later time. The council has a professional staff of analysts.

State Senate lawyers seek review of courts

Post-Crescent Madison bureau

MADISON — A bi-partisan proposal by five state senate lawyers apparently signals the death in the legislature's upper house of the plan for the reorganization of the Wisconsin courts as urged by a gubernatorial task force and eagerly backed by Chief Justice E. Harold Hallows and other members of the state supreme court.

Sens. Raymond Johnson, Gerald Lorge and Roger Murphy, Republicans, and Frank and Bablitch, Democrats, have asked for a review of court system problems by the legislative council with instructions for a report to the 1975 legislature.

It would cover such questions as the feasibility of a single level system of trial courts, as urged by Hallows, methods of improving and municipal courts, the more frequent use of court commissioners as auxiliaries of magistrates, the improvement of pre-trial court procedures, the modernization of court techniques and practices alternative means of handling appeals now heard by circuit courts, and any other methods that contain promise of making the judicial system more efficient.

The proposed agenda for study does not mention the idea of an intermediate appellate court system which is the central feature of the reorganization plan now before the legislature, largely resulting from strenuous efforts by Chief Justice Hallows over a period of several years.

That measure has thus far shown little sign of acceptance in the legislature. It is in the form of a constitutional amendment that would require at least four years to enact and ratify.

Political observers regard as significant the fact that Sen. Johnson is one of the authors of the delaying study. He is the leader of the Republican majority of the state senate and a declared candidate for a seat on the state supreme court in the spring election. He is challenging Justice Horace Wilkie, who has endorsed reorganization along the lines advocated by Hallows.

Kaukauna High course changes to be discussed

KAUKAUNA — Recommendations concerning high school cirriculum changes for the 1974-75 school year will be aired at a meeting of the board of education at 1 p.m. Tuesday in the board rooms at the high school.

The board also will discuss the annual camp-study trip for sixth graders, a planned meeting with William Sirek, director of Fox Valley Technical Institute, a computer program for high school students and three recent resignations.

School Supt. Julian Bichler reported that resignations had been received from Dr. Bruno Alvarez, Spanish department, who plans to move to a warmer climate due to ill health of his wife; Mrs. Bonita Vieau, second grade teacher who is moving to Green Bay where her husband is to be employed and Mrs. Marilyn Yaeger, school nurse, who will resign April 1 due to ill health.

Firey crash destroys truck, damages home

NEW LONDON — A fiery truck crash early today destroyed a Schneider Transport Co. semi-trailer unit and caused considerable damage to a house. Outagamie County police said that Donald M. Hughes, 42, Rochester, Minn., was taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital in Appleton with face and rib injuries. He is listed in satisfactory condition. The accident occurred about 1:25 a.m. on State 54, just east of here. The truck left the highway on a curve, went into a ditch and struck the front of a house owned by Eugene Hedtke, route 1, Fairview Drive. Before striking the house the truck knocked over a utility pole. Hughes said he could not remember how the accident happened.

New London firemen said there was damage to the porch, the inside and the front of the house.

Mafia stories hurt stocks of cheese firm

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A banker says investor interest in a Dodge County cheese firm has abated sharply because of newspaper reports of Mafia associations in the company's background.

Ralph Zaun, a vice president of a suburban Grafton bank, said Friday some investors are abandoning plans to help purchase $2.5 million in municipal industrial revenue bonds.

The Milwaukee Sentinel has said Grande Cheese Co. stockholders have included Joseph "Joe Bananas" Bonanno, identified as a New York Mafia figure.

Grande had announced plans to double its output through a plant expansion with the help of revenue bonds under auspices of the Town of Leroy in Dodge County.

The Sentinel says preliminary approval of the bond issue was enacted by the town board in a closed meeting despite state law which prohibits private sessions of government agencies.

Zaun said there is "absolutely no truth" to suggestions of underworld links involving Grande. He also denied members of the town board acted improperly.

"Those people did nothing wrong," he said. "There was no attempt at secrecy."

"If there was anything more open and above board, I have never seen it," the banker said.

A board member, Armond Waas of rural Mayville, said town officials will discuss matters with an attorney before taking further steps.

The attorney, Curtis Kirkhuff of Madison, was reported to be out of town skiing.

In Madison, the office of Atty. Gen. Robert W. Warren was quoted as saying it does not want to get involved.

Grande officials continued to decline comment.

Hearsts still wait for news

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — The family of kidnaped newspaper heiress Patricia Hearst still is waiting for the "further communications" promised by her abductors.

The kidnapers of the 19-year-old Miss Hearst, abducted Monday night from her apartment near the University of California, have yet to indicate what they want in exchange for her freedom.

"There has been speculation that the abductors would want the two men in San Quentin freed in exchange," Miss Hearst's father, Randolph A. Hearst, said Friday.

Hearst, president and editor of the San Francisco Examiner, was referring to Joseph M. Remiro, 27, and Russell Little, 24.

Remiro and Little are accused of the Nov. 6 cyanide-bullet assassination of Marcus Foster, Oakland superintendent of schools.

"If that happened, all we can do is try," Hearst said. "The decision rests with the governor or attorney general. It is not one that would be in our power."

An organization that calls itself the Symbionese Liberation Army (SLA) claims to be holding Miss Hearst hostage, and the SLA has claimed responsibility for the Foster slaying. It says Remiro and Little are "soldiers" of the SLA.

Hearst and his wife, Catherine, a regent of the University of California, met newsmen twice Friday at their Hillsborough home about 15 miles south of San Francisco.

"At least we now know that Patty is alive," Hearst said, gripping his wife's hand.

Police & fire beat

A charge of delivering amphetamines was brought Friday against Robert G. Van Den Wildenberg, 24, 414 Julius Drive, Greenville, when he appeared before Judge Nick F. Schaefer in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

It is the third drug sales-related charge against Van Den Wildenberg, who faces two other counts for sale of hashish and amphetamines. Friday's charge related to a Jan. 3 incident at the defendant's residence in which he reportedly gave several amphetamine pills to a county narcotics agent.

Schaefer set the defendant's bail at $1,500 and continued the case to Monday. Van Den Wildenberg is pending arraignment in Circuit Court on the other two charges, which were issued Jan. 28. The other alleged sales also were to the same agent and at the Van Den Wildenberg home.

Van Den Wildenberg has remained in the county jail since Jan. 29.

Meanwhile, a Feb. 13 preliminary hearing was set Friday for Van Den Wildenberg's wife Lesley, 21, by Judge Urban P. Van Susteren in Outagamie County Court Branch 1.

She is charged with two counts of hashish sale and one count of marijuana sale. The sales again were alleged to have been made to the same agent and at the Van Den Wildenberg home. Mrs. Van Den Wildenberg presently is free on bond.

KAUKAUNA — Firemen were called this week, to the office of Dr. Jerome Paulson, 120 E. Wisconsin Ave., after a gasoline odor was detected in the building.

Firemen found that waste oil dumped behind a neighboring service station, had run downhill and seeped into a window well of the office building. The matter was referred to the fire inspector, who will investigate the service station's method of disposing of waste meterial.

The fire department rescue squad was summoned to Appleton High School-West about noon Thursday after a student complained of a headache and body pains. The student, Connie Laux, 16, 2618 N. Owaissa St., said she had been accidentally kicked while rehearsing for a play.

An electrical short circuit was listed as the cause of a fire in a lightning arrester for a water generator at the Wisconsin Michigan Power Co., 807 S. Oneida St., about 2 p.m. Thursday.

Firemen said the electrical fire was burning for an undetermined amount of time before detection, but once discovered, the blaze was put out in 10 minutes by employes using carbon dioxide extinguishers.

Courts

Sentencing will be Feb. 22 for Patty Chapman, 18, route 4, Appleton, for being party to the sale of drugs.

She pleaded guilty Thursday to the charge, involving the sale of four grams of hashish, a marijuana derivative, to a county narcotics agent, in Appleton last Sept. 27.

Her plea was accepted by Circuit Court Judge Gordon Myse.

Little Chute High to institute 'merit program'

LITTLE CHUTE — A "merit program"," in which students will be permitted to leave the school when they do not have regular classes, will be instituted Wednesday at Little Chute High School.

The program will be basically for those students considered "good citizens in the school," according to Principal Mart Hottmann. He said the purpose of the program was to enable students to learn how to use their own time and develop the responsibility associated with it.

Permission slips, signed by a parent, must be turned in to the school office by Monday morning if a student plans to participate.

Hottmann said the program can be a "valuable learning and maturing experience."

Parents who have questions about the program may call the principal at the school office.

Stubborn Patriots bow to Kimberly

BY DAN VANDERPAS
Post-Crescent staff writer

Kimberly High School broke a 30-30 deadlock with 6:15 left in the game by firing in nine unanswered points to put down Appleton East, 43-34, in a Fox Valley Association game in the Patriots' gym Friday night.

The Papermakers are nom 10-1 in FVA play and remaine tied for the lead with Neenah. Appleton East's league record is 3-8.

The Patriots' Phil Plamann banked a short jumper to tie the score at 30-30 before the Papermakers forged ahead.

Chuck Ruys converted one of two free throws with 5:59 remaining to put the victors up by one. Ruys' efforts represented the only time KHS went to the charity stripe during the entire contest.

Two buckets by Ruys from close range and single hoops by Dave Albers and Pat Gaffney upped the margin to 39-30 as the clock rolled to 1:20.

Both squads converted two field goals during the waning seconds.

The Patriots, playing without the services of Craig Martin who was out with the flu, trailed 14-10 at the conclusion of the first quarter and 22-18 at intermission.

They outscored the state's third-ranked big school, 8-6, in the third period. In that quarter, Appleton East rallied to tie the score at 24-24 and 26-26 on baskets by Brad Londre and Paul Haas, respectively.

All of Kimberly's third quarter markers were scored by Albers, who hit twice from long range and once from within 10 feet.

Unofficially, Kimberly converted 21 field goals in 45 tries for 46.7 per cent. East connected on 16 of 40 for 40 per cent.

The Patriots made only three trips to the free throw line in the cleanly-played defensive struggle. Ray Schreiter converted two straight, while Haas and Plamann both tried twice without success.

"If you believe in yourself, you produce in the clutch," Patriot Coach Tom Gossens said after it was over. "It's been the same story all year long for us. We'll have to start believing in ourselves."

He added, "That Albers killed us. For a while there, he was putting them in from 10 feet out with three guys hanging on him."

Gossens added that he was pleased with his defense. He also praised Schreiter, East's top scorer with 12 points. "Ray's been consistent all year long," he said.

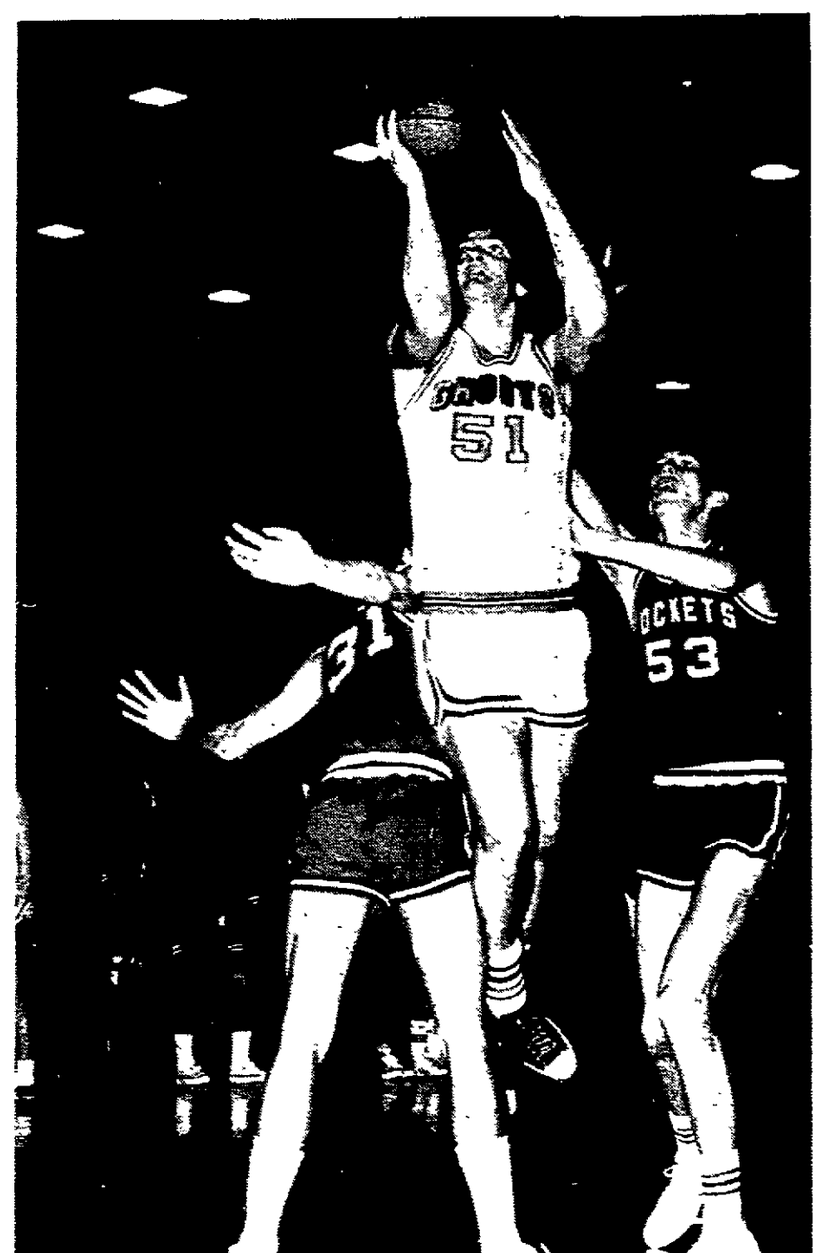

Kimberly Coach Jack Wippich noted, "Our ability to get Ruys free in the fourth quartex made the difference. We like him to get the pass from the high post."

Asked if he was pleased with his team's performance, Wippich said, "Let's put it this way, we have a lot of work to do. Physically, I think we're there. But mentally, we're not."

Kim Vanden Boogard was Kimberly's other double figures scorer with 10. Ruys, who ended with seven, was held scoreless during the middle two periods.

East's Haas and Plamann collected eight apiece.

On the way up

Kaukauna's Frank Bouressa (51) goes to the basket for a layup Friday night against Neenah. Rocket defenders are Wayne Kreklow (31) and Ron Benson (53). Neenah, 10-1, posted a 69-60 win. (Post-Crescent photo)

Rockets torrid at charity line

BY ROGER PITT

KAUKAUNA — Neenah scored the first eight points of the game Friday and Kaukauna was really never able to recover from that slow start as the Rockets, co-leaders in the Fox Valley Association, logged a 69-60 victory.

Neenah, 10-1, was limited to just three field goals in the second half but shot a spectacular 33 of 37 from the free throw line.

Momentum shifted from team-to-team during the game but the Rockets gained the upperhand every time Kaukauna pulled close.

Neenah led 41-35 at the intermission and scored the initial point of the second half as Ken Zoromski converted the tailend of a 2-shot foul with 6:31 left in the period. The Ghosts reeled off seven straight points to tie the contest at 42-all, however, Tom Spice scored off a steal of a Kaukauna pass and then converted two free throws about 20 seconds later. Ron Benson added a field goal and Wayne Kreklow two free throws to hike the advantage to 50-42.

After Neenah opened an 11 point lead in the fourth quarter, Kaukauna scored four unanswered field goals to pull within three, 56-53.

The Ghosts managed to stay within striking distance over the next minute but Neenah sewed the game up with a six point burst, all on free throws, to lead by 10, 66-56.

Neenah, paced by Kreklow, a junior, who scored a game high 28 points, converted 20 straight free throws after Zoromski's miss early in the third period. The streak ended as Zoromski missed the second shot on a bonus situation. Kreklow was perfect on 14 attempts from the foul line.

"Ridiculous," Neenah's veteran coach Ron Einerson said. "I just can't believe we got three baskets in the second half and won. If anybody would have told me that prior to the game I would have said he was crazy."

"It's one of two things. Either they did a good job of preventing us from getting a shot on defense, or, we had very poor movement in our offense.

"I think we just got a little too conservative in the second half. We have to keep moving to be effective," Einerson said.

Neenah's effort was a pleasing one to him, however, on several points. "The free throw shooting was excellent," he said. "You couldn't ask any better from a team.

"This was a good game for us. It's the first one since Kimberly where we had to really work. We were under pressure all the time and that's what makes the foul shooting all the more outstanding," Einerson said.

Another bright spot for the Rockets was the return of Ben Luebke, quick senior guard, who hadn't played since the opener because of a knee injury which required surgery. Luebke played about a quarter in all.

"We got Ben into the game so he could gain some confidence," Einerson said. "We played him about as much as we wanted."

"Yes, I was a little worried," the Rocket mentor said, when asked about a slight injury Luebke received in the first half after only a few seconds play. "He managed to work it out."

Other than the free throws, where Neenah held a 33-16 advantage, game statistics were very close. Kaukauna connected on 22 of 54 from the floor and Neenah 18 of 55. Neenah held a 30-29 rebounding advantage, while Kaukauna turned the ball over 14 times to 13 for the Rockets.

Reed Giordana, the conference's leading scorer, led the Ghosts with 23 points. Scott Lunda posted 14, Frank Bouressa 11 and Tom Vaubel 10. Larry Madsen, with 15 points, was the only Rocket other than Kreklow in double figures.

NEENAH (20-21-9-19—69) Luebke 0 0 1, Perry 2 4 2, Williamson 1 4 2, Kreklow 7 14 4, Spice 2 4 4, Zoromski 0 2 3, Benson 1 0 1, Madsen 5 5 3. Totals 19 33 20. FTM — 4.

Xavier wins in last :02

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN
Post-Crescent sports editor

Jerry Johnson, a slim southpaw, propelled a 15-foot fadeaway jumper through the hoop with 2 seconds remaining to give Xavier High School a 58-56 upset basketball victory over Oshkosh Lourdes here Friday night.

The dramatic shot climaxed a triumph of hustle over muscle and dimmed the Fox Valley Christian Conference title hopes of Lourdes (now 7-6). The husky Knights (with a front line averaging around 6-4) markedly outsized the Hawks and hammered out a 29-17 rebounding edge. But, they couldn't shake off the persistent Hawks, who clawed every second of the way (and shot 46.7 per cent, which didn't hurt their cause, either).

Xavier, which led for an aggregate of only 57 seconds of the first three periods, constructed a 7-point edge in the final quarter. However, this time it was Lourdes' turn to rally, and the Knights pulled even, at 56, on burly Jim Angle's 3-point play with 42 seconds left. The Gus Laemmrich-coached Hawks then froze the ball for 34 seconds before Bob Mullen was fouled. Mullen, who had fired through nine free throws enroute to a 13-point performance, missed, and in the scrap for the rebound a jump ball was whistled with 4 seconds to go.

Tom Floodstrand, who like Johnson and Mullen, was a Xavier hero in the final home game of his prep career, tipped the ball to Johnson, who grabbed it in a crowd. Jerry pumped it up and in to complete a 6-for-7 field goal evening and to send Xavier partisans into a frenzy. The win, which avenges a 2-point loss to Lourdes, boosts Xavier's FVCC record to 7-7 and its all-games mark to 10-8.

Floodstrand, using a deadly turn-around shot, hit nine of 12 floor launchings and harvested 20 points. Johnson tied Mullen for runnerup honors, with 13.

Lourdes' Pat McKenzie, a slick junior guard, led all scorers with 24 points, 14 of which came from 17 free throw attempts.

Xavier's aggressive defenders hounded Lourdes into 18 turn-overs, while the Hawks gave up the ball 12 times without getting off a shot. Xavier sank 21 of 45 against Lourdes' zone defense, while the Knights hit on 19 of 47 (40.4 per cent) against the Hawk zone.

Lourdes started with a bang, sinking its first five field tries enroute to a 10-5 lead. The Knights went on to open an 8-point gap (20-12) by the quarter pause. It turned out to be the only period in which the Knights outscored Xavier.

The Hawks remained patient on offense despite their deficit and cut three points off their disadvantage by half-time (30-25) and finally pulled even (39-all) on a Mullen rebound with 1:08 left in the third period. The quarter closed at 41-41.

Xavier rolled to a 56-49 lead in the first five minutes of the payoff stanza, but the Knights scored seven straight points to create the final tie.

Brewers sign Davey May

MILWAUKEE (AP) —Veteran outfielder Dave May has signed a one-year contract for a substantial salary increase, Milwaukee Brewers vice president Jim Wilson said Friday.

May, whose contract terms for his fourth season with the Brewers were not disclosed, hit .303 last year with 25 homers and 93 runs batted in. He tied George Scott for the American League lead in total bases with 295. He also had a 24-game hitting streak, the longest in the league in 1973.

May spent three years and part of a fourth with Baltimore before coming to the Brewers.

The signing brings 26 Brewers into the fold, with 12 players still unsigned.

Reserves pace key Buck win

By MIKE O'BRIEN
AP Sports Writer

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Even with 4 points per game worth of talent out o uniform and a top reserve just out of sic bay, the Milwaukee Bucks made it loo easy Friday night.

With Lucius Allen sinking 13 of 2 shots and scoring 28 points, and thei supposedly weak bench respondin, brilliantly, the Bucks outscrapped one o the National Basketball Association' better teams, the Capital Bullets 105-96.

"That was a great, great, big win, said Coach Larry Costello, whose Buck boosted their Midwest Division lead t three games over runnerup Chicago.

"I didn't know if it could be done, in al honesty; but they did it with grea determination and teamwork," he said "We said this afternoon that defens would have to win for us, and I think did."

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar, averaging 26. points per game, stayed at home becaus of a corneal abrasion, the result of a pok in the eye suffered against Bosto Wednesday night.

Bob Dandridge, the Bucks' No. scorer, missed a second consecutiv game because of a bruised thigh.

The Bucks' task appeared all bu impossible when Abdul-Jabbar's subs titute, Cornell Warner, committed hi fourth foul with 36 seconds left in th first quarter.

Still, the best the Bullets could do afte an early lead was a 61-61 tie in the firs minutes of the second half.

However, the Bucks scored the last 1 points of the third quarter, includin four each by Allen and Warner, for thei largest lead to that point, 84-71.

A basket and two free throws by Jo McGlocklin, and a baseline jumper b Allen, made it 90-73 early in the fourt quarter.

Bullets' Coach K. C. Jones pulled mos of his regulars moments later an employed a trapping, full-court press but to little avail.

"We went to the press to try to forc errors and get some movement o offense, which we didn't have fo three-fourths of the game," Jones said

Terrors rally in final period to top Spartan

OSHKOSH — A pressing defense which caused seven Oshkosh North turnovers in the fourth period enabled the Appleton High School-West Terrors to come from behind for a 64-62 Fox Valley Association victory here Friday night.

North, which has won only once in 11 tries in FVA play this season, was on the verge of a big upset when the Terrors pulled the game out.

North had a 57-49 advantage with 5:22 remaining when the Terrors went to work with their pressing defense. Turnovers and a key 3-point play by Mike Brouillard of the Terrors put West ahead 61-60 with 1:10 left in the game.

At the 1 minute mark, John King dropped in a pair of free throws to put North in front again, 62-61. West then ran the clock down to 30 seconds and Greg Reitzner hit a shot from the corner for a 63-62 advantage for the Terrors.

North called for a time out to set up some last second strategy, but the move backfired as the Spartans were unable to get the ball in bounds and turned it over to the Terrors again. In the final seconds, Doug Schmidt of West was fouled and made good on one of two free throws to make the final margin two points. The victory boosted West's record to 7-4 in FVA play and put the Terrors in sole possession of third place after Kaukauna and Oshkosh West suffered setbacks Friday night. Brouillard was the point leader for the Terrors as he dropped in nine buckets and four free throws for 22 points. Schmidt added 13 and Arnie Fielkow had 12. North's scoring was well divided as Collin Strasser was high with 14 while Bill Hickey had 13 and Dave Hirte scored 11 markers. Both teams had 24 field goals, but the Terrors hit on 16 of 25 from the charity stripe while North managed 14 out of 19.

Zephyrs log victory

MARINETTE — Menasha St. Mary didn't get to the free throw line until the fourth quarter Friday, but once it did, Marinette Central was out of business.

The Zephyrs made 11 of their 14 charity tosses, including the final 10 points of the contest to break open a close game and down the Cavaliers, 49-37 in a Fox Valley Christian Conference basketball outing.

The victory kept the visitors in the league's title chase with an 8-6 record, while Marinette fell to 6-7. St. Mary is 10-6 overall, while Central is 10-7.

Chris Fahrbach and Al Jensen did most of the damage from the foul line, as they combined for nine free throw successes.

Fahrbach's first charity toss gave the Zephyrs a 39-35 lead, but Jim Guay countered with a field goal to tighten the score to 39-37. From there the Zephyrs' free throw marksmanship enabled them to pull away.

Central jumped off to a 6-0 lead and held onto the edge until late in the second quarter, when a Fahrbach jumper gave St. Mary its first advantage, 20-19. The teams exchanged buckets as the visitors took a 22-21 halftime lead. The Zephyrs never trailed after that.

Fahrbach took game honors with 23 points, while Dan Thyne had 16 and Guay 15 for the losers.

Mustangs coast to win over Wautoma

BY JIM HARP
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

LITTLE CHUTE — After racing to a 15-point lead in the first period, the Little Chute Mustangs coasted to a 66-59 Central Wisconsin Conference victory over Wautoma here Friday night.

The win gives the state's No. 10 ranked middle school a 14-3 record for the season and a 10-3 mark in league play. Wautoma is now 8-5 in the conference.

Scott Schommer sparked the first half surge for the Mustangs as he scored all 12 of his points for the night in the first two periods. It was the home loop finale for the Chuters who will close regular season action next week at Weyauwega.

After Little Chute took a 8-4 lead in the first two minutes, the Mustangs broke loose for 11 straight points to run the margin to 19-4. Little Chute hit on nine of 15 tries from the floor in the opening stanza.

Dave Bray and Paul Kromrie put some sting the Hornet attack as each scored six points in the second period. Little Chute still had a 19-18 point edge in the second quarter to take a 38-26 margin at the half.

The Mustangs stretched their advantage to 16 points at the end of three quarters and it was only when reserves were filtered into the game that the Hornets were able to close the gap. Wautoma did outscore Little Chute 23-14 in the final period as the Mustangs could hit on only six of 17 shots from the floor.

For the game, Little Chute hit a brisk 47 per cent despite the poor shooting in the final quarter. The Mustangs had 30 buckets out of 63 attempts.

The Hornets, who topped the 50 per cent mark in shooting for the final two periods, had 46 per cent for the game on 22 out of 48. Little Chute's good defensive work kept the Hornets at a good distance from the bucket most of the time and Wautoma was forced to take long shots.

Schommer and Dan Vanden Heuvel led Little Chute's 9-man scoring attack with 12 each. Stu Driessen had 10 markers and Todd Jansen added nine.

Rick Hasselquist led Wautoma with 16 points and Kromrie had 14. Bray followed with 12.

Jays upset Indians in overtime

BY GEORGE MANCOSKY
Post-Crescent staff writer

MENASHA — Marshall Richards drove in for a tie-breaking layup with 46 seconds left in an overtime and the lead held up to give Menasha High School a 64-62 upset victory over Oshkosh West Friday night.

The Bluejays, in posting their first Fox Valley Association triumph in 11 starts, did it the hard way.

They were down 10-0 in the first quarter and remained in arrears until tying the score at 35-all in the third stanza.

The Menasha team was never able to forge ahead but stayed in the battle and a basket by Rick Bachhuber with 30 seconds remaining in the fourth stanza gave them a 58-all tie and eventual overtime.

The Jays gained possession of the ball with seven seconds left in regulation time but were called for traveling at the 2-second mark. A desperation shot from mid-court by West's Bruce Dittmer was short.

Coach Clem Massey's forces took charge with the first fielder of the extra session and, although tied twice, they never trailed.

Richards, who scored all of his 10 points in the second half and overtime, opened with a layup following a steal.

West's Bill Dehn tied the score but Ron Bodmer countered for the hosts, for 62-60 with 1:21 to play.

Dehn's shot was blocked by Brad Kellett but the latter was tagged with a foul on the play and the 6-7 pivotman pumped in the two tying free throws at the 57-second mark.

With 46 seconds left, Richards came through with his solo effort and 18 seconds later, the Indians gave up the ball on a traveling call.

The Bluejays held on for dear life, working the ball around effectively and preventing the Indians from making a foul until less than a second remained. Red Fredrickson missed the free throw attempt but nobody much cared as the celebration already had begun.

"It may sound trite but we put it together in the third and fourth periods," Massey said. He credited his team with "hanging in there" and said the defense did a good job.

"You've got to give our kids a lot of credit for their ability to keep working at athletics when they could have quit," the Bluejay coach added.

And well they might have given up after the first half which saw them sink only four field goals in 31 attempts.

West had six shots, five on tips, before the Jays even had ball possession and it was at the 3:16 mark before they finally broke into the scoring column on two free throws by Bachhuber.

The locals were down, 16-7, at the close of the first period and, after narrowing the spread to four, fell behind, 31-22, at the intermission.

A run of nine straight points, the first five by Bachhuber, enabled the Menashans to catch their guests at 35-all with 3:30 left in the third frame. They trailed, 46-41, at its conclusion.

It was 58-50 when Buchhuber produced two goals, Bodmer one and then Bachhuber again to set up the overtime.

Menasha, after its frigid first half, hit 16 of 29 in the third and fourth periods plus three for three in the overtime. West finished with 25 of 48 but only had 21 second half shots and but two in the overtime.

Free throw shooting, often a Bluejay failing in the past, bailed them out. The locals hit 18 of 24 from the line, including 10 of 11 by Bachhuber. West had a 25-23 field goal edge.

Bachhuber and Dehn shared scoring honors with 22 points apiece. Bruce Dittmer was runnerup for Oshkosh with 18 and Bodmer collected 16 for Menasha.

Roncalli tops FVL, ties for lead

Larry Rand netted 21 points to pace Manitowoc Roncalli to a 58-43 win over Fox Valley Lutheran Friday in a very physical Fox Valley Christian Conference basketball encounter at the Foxes' gym.

The Jets are now tied for the FVCC lead with De Pere Pennings, both having 9-4 slates. FVL skidded to 4-9 in league play.

Roncalli used a big third period in pulling away from the Foxes. The visitors rang up 14 points while FVL managed only six during the segment. Tom Grow scored a basket off the tip to start the stanza but FVL didn't score again until 3:17 ticked off the clock.

In the fourth quarter the Jets built up their biggest point spread, a 54-34 margin with 2:19 left in the game.

Fox Valley scored the first four points of the contest but Roncalli came back and knotted the score at 4-4 midway through the initial stanza. By the end of the period, the Jets held a 14-7 advantage.

Guy Landua, Terry Streufert and Grow all netted baskets and FVL closed the gap to 16-15. Streufert put FVL ahead 19-18 and Steve Lecker padded the Foxes' lead to 20-18 with a charity throw.

Roncalli came back with two field goals to take a 24-22 margin and the Jets lost the lead after the half.

Grow's 16 points was tops for FVL.

Truckers record win

CLINTONVILLE — A 30-point explosion in the fourth period enabled the Clintonville Truckers to pull away from Oconto Falls and move into sole possession of first place in the Bay Conference.

Clintonville defeated Oconto Falls by a 70-54 margin after carrying a narrow two-point lead into the final period.

The win gives the Truckers a 13-2 conference record and a half-game lead over Marinette which has a 12-2 mark. Marinette's game with Ashwaubenon was postponed Friday night because of the flu and two other loop contests also were set back because of the illness at respective schools. The West DePere-Seymour tilt and DePere at Oconto game also will have to be made up at a later date.

Hot free throw shooting kept Oconto Falls in the game most of the way for the first three periods. The losers hit on 16 of 19 from the line. Clintonville built up a 10-point lead by the intermission, but saw this disappear as Oconto Falls hit 18 points in the third period to just 10 for the Truckers.

Clintonville put on a press in the fourth period and then broke the game open with some good shooting and outstanding defensive work. The Truckers scored the first six points of the final quarter and steadily widened the gap.

The Truckers featured a balanced scoring attack with Randy Wedde getting 16 points while Dave Rindt, Terry Flanagan and Bob Dennison had 12 each and Randy Schoenike added 10. Ronnie Kostrova and Terry Krieser each had 16 for Oconto Falls.

Clintonville had a hot 32 of 56 from the floor for 57 per cent while the losers were 19 of 53 for 36 per cent.

Carleton defeats LU

NORTHFIELD, Minn. — Leon Smith connected for 24 points on nine baskets and six free throws to spur Carleton to an 86-73 Midwest Conference victory over Lawrence University here Friday night.

It was the sixth loss in eight league starts for the Vikes. Carleton has a 2-5 record in league play.

Lawrence trailed, 45-37, at halftime but managed to tie the score at 25-25 at one point. With 5:30 left until intermission, the Carls increased their lead to 39-31.

The Vikings narrowed the gap to six points (64-58) in the second half. But Carleton then combined an effective fast break with accurate free throw shooting to assume command.

Jerry Percak scored 19 points, including nine baskets and a free throw for LU. He counted 13 of his markers in the second half. Doug Fyfe scored 18, while Quincy Rogers and Tim Kelley collected 11.

"Percak and Fyfe played excellent ball tonight," LU Coach Russ Ullsperger said. "But our team shooting on the whole, was off tonight."

Brillion produced only six points during the third quarter and Freedom carried a 56-33 margin into the fourth segment.

Valders was able to get off a shot with 11 seconds remaining in the second overtime but missed. A jump ball was called on the rebound and Mishicot gained control of the tip. The Vikings were able to steal the ball and take a shot as the horn sounded, but it too was off.
